THREE-MINUTE TALES by Ed Schuster THE LOST STORY

ERIN TROOPS BATTLE WITH REBEL FOES

HAZEL DELL took into her early married life a dream of fame as a writer. She would surprise her husband when the story she had been turning over in her mind appeared in one of the leading magazines, and the money from her pen would help them in building the home of her dreams.

"The Yellow String," carrying with it the young bride's hopes, was sent away to an editor. It was a good story, Hazel felt, and she wondered if she could ever write another as good. "The Yellow String" was gone for a long time and when it returned a blue rejection slip fell out of the envelope in the author's lap.

After that Hazel lost the impulse to write. She had put the best that was in her into a story which vibrated with her young idealism. She read it over again and shook her head. "To me it is very wonderful," she said with a rueful smile. "It must be that I do not know." Then she burned the manuscript and devoted her energies and mind to the tasks of the housewife. No one, except her husband, to whom she made a tearful confession, knew that she had tried her hand at writing.

At the end of fifteen years Mrs. Tom Dell had forgotten her old longings and the pain of disappointment. Tom, a boy starting high school, and a daughter three years younger, held her attention. In Warrenville it was said her washing was first on the line on Monday mornings, her home was the neatest and her children the best dressed in town. Tom boasted of her accomplishments and all but buried in the easy comfort of his domestic life. Only once in a while Hazel missed the golden ideals she had lost lost when she burned "The Yellow String."

ONE evening Tom went to hear a lecture by a former editor who had won fame as the author of a book which had stirred discussion the country over. It was a rambling discourse, journeying here and there in literary paths and Tom wondered why he had left his fireplace to attend. Hazel made it a practice never to tempt herself by entering the atmosphere or book discussion. With an understanding of her feelings, Tom smiled and paid but little attention to the speaker—until suddenly a word attracted his wandering thoughts.

"It was when I was editor of a magazine in the East," the lecturer said, "that a short story, one real pearl in hundreds of imitations, made the greatest impression our office had ever seen. I read it and handed it to the chief. It was passed around the office, and we all experienced that unusual thrill which comes with the discovery of genius. The story was by an unknown writer in a small city and it was a better story than any of us had ever read."

The speaker paused for effect. "We call it the lost story and there are those of us who remember it to this day. In its journey around the office it fell into the hands of a reader who had not been informed of the discovery. There was a misunderstanding somewhere. He thought it was given him to return and he sent it back. There was no one who remembered the address of the writer and all the world could do we never found her. "The Yellow String" lives only in the memory of the four or five who read it and the woman who wrote it out of her heart and soul."

TOM DELL took the long way home and walked slowly. He wondered what effect this news would have on Hazel. The wife to whom he was returning was not the dream-eyed girl who had maled her aspirations to the East, she was content now as the housekeeper and mother. Maybe she had lost what it was that made "The Yellow String" so great a story. He could not picture Hazel writing another.

Near the house Tom saw the light in the living room. She was sewing there and awaiting his return. He realized the pain which must have been hers when the story came back and a flood of tenderness swept him. She had always known it was a bad story. If he told her what the editor had said it might bring happiness. Then Tom thought again of the fifteen years of Hazel's training, and the pain which would come with the re-creating of dreams long tucked away. He walked up the steps and turned the knob of the door.

"I wonder if I should tell her?" he said.

"I don't know, and I still say about him last year, saying people all day long, making it possible to enjoy their work."

"I wonder if I should tell her?" he said.

SHOPMEN HEED CALL FOR GREAT RAILWAY STRIKE

to be run out to take the place of equipment which could not be repaired in case of a walkout.

One hundred thousand men—one-fourth of those involved in the strike—are employed in shops in Chicago and suburbs.

Elaborate preparations were made to preserve order and protect railroad property.

Chief of Police Charles Fitzmorris, in conference with railroad executives, made arrangements whereby hourly reports will be received from each of the shops as to whether there is any danger of trouble. Squads of police were assigned to shop districts.

Each major railroad operating out of Chicago hired 500 guards.

STRIKE AIMED AT U. S. IS CONTENTION.

All hope of a strike settlement, according to high railroad executives, rested with the federal government. The railroad managers contended that the strike was directed against the government, through a strike against an order for a wage cut issued by the United States Railroad Labor Board.

Any further steps to bring about peace by the board were doubtful. Chairman Hooper said he was awaiting word from Washington before making any additional effort to stop the strike.

Railroads today put in effect wage cuts of more than $134,000,000 a year, granted by the board. Approximately one-half of this cut was directed against railway shopmen, upon which the strike vote was taken. The remainder was divided among the maintenance-of-way employees.

Heads of the maintenance-of-way union will confer July 3 on whether or not a strike will be ordered. Labor board members believed that a strike of that organization would not be called.

At the same time the roads made effective cuts amounting to $400,000,000 a year in freight rates.

Some railroads today also proceeded to carry out their promise made at yesterday's conference to get out of contracts which they have made for shop work and maintenance-of-way repairs, in defiance of the board's orders.

One railroad—the New York Central—tied a string to its promise, declaring that it would agree to abolish its contract system only in case it avoided a strike.

The roads had first planned to meet a strike of shopmen by throwing all of their work into the contract system. Whether this will be carried out now, in view of the promises made to the board, could not be learned.

However, it was believed that many of the larger roads would claim the unions had violated the board's orders first and then proceeded to put the contract system into effect generally, on shop work at least.

PENNSYLVANIA MEN HEAD STRIKE CALL.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 1.—Twenty-five hundred employees of the Glenwood shops of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad walked out in the shopmen's strike this morning.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 1.—Ninety-five percent of the union shopmen in the Harrisburg district quit work today in response to the strike call, according to the count of union leaders here. There are over 3000 men enrolled in this district.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 1.—Strike of the railroad shop crafts got under way here at 10 a. m. in number of mechanics in the roundhouses of the New York Central dropped their tools and walked out.

SOUTHWEST JAMS IN BIG WALKOUT.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 1.—Nearly 5000 out of 6000 shopcraft employees on nine railroads operating mechanical departments in this city walked out on strike at 10 o'clock this morning. The men reported for work as usual this morning and waited until the hour designated before quitting their jobs. No disorder attended the walkout.

At Wichita, Kan., 900 men walked out; San Antonio, Tex., had 1100 out; Oklahoma City, Okla., 1800; Fort Worth, Tex., 1250; Dallas, Tex., 1200; Denison, Tex., 1400.

NEBRASKA ADDS 500 MEN TO LIST.

OMAHA, Neb., July 1.—Claims that the strike of railway shopmen in Omaha and other cities of Nebraska and Western Iowa was from 95 to 100 per cent effective, were made by union men today. In Omaha, where more than 2000 are ordinarily employed in shops, mostly by the Union Pacific railroad, assertion by union men that the walkout was 98 per cent effective was made. A 100 per cent walkout was claimed in Council Bluffs, Iowa, where between 1500 and 1600 are said to be affected, while from Sioux City, Ia., it was reported that all of the shopmen were quitting, about 800 being involved.

Approximately 1500 quit at Hazelton, Neb., and between 500 and 600 at Lincoln, the union claiming 95 and 100 per cent effective, respectively, for the two cities.

Shopmen from South Dakota said

3000 LAY DOWN TOOLS AT COLUMBUS.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 1.—Three thousand shop workers of the Pennsylvania and Hocking Valley railroads laid down their tools at 10 a. m. today and marched through the business district of Columbus to strike headquarters.

DETROIT, Mich., July 1.—Shop workers walk out in the railroad shops here at 10 a. m.

CLINTON, Ia., July 1.—About 1000 shopmen of the Chicago & Northwestern went on strike here today.

Men Sought to Take Places of Strikers

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 1.—Labor agencies here today recruited men to fill the places of striking railroad shopmen.

Ronin's understood to be hiring reserve men were the Wabash, Missouri Pacific and Illinois Central.

Union Members Are Appointed Deputies

SAN BERNARDINO, July 1.—Request for the appointment of a large number of special deputy sheriffs from among the ranks of the unions in the Santa Fe shops was granted late last night by Sheriff W. A. Shay.

Union officials told the sheriff they were preparing to prevent any demonstration that might result in destruction of railroad property.

Under the recent decision of the supreme court the unions are held responsible for such damage, the union officials told the sheriff.

The Santa Fe officials began hasty preparation for the strike. All cars were cleared from tracks adjacent to the shopyard stockade and all locomotives outside of the stockade were moved inside. About thirty guards were placed on duty by the Santa Fe.

SAN BERNARDINO WORKERS WALK OUT.

SAN BERNARDINO, July 1.—Thirteen hundred Santa Fe shopmen here obeyed the strike order at 10 a. m. today, cutting their work in orderly manner and marching to the Labor Temple to register. Only about 100 pensioners, who were so directed by the union chiefs, remained at work.

Friends and members of their families gathered along the line of march and cheered the strikers as they passed through the city.

now in all justice contribute your part toward the necessary return to normal conditions.

"Let me assure you that employees who remain loyally at work if the strike is called, and the new men who come in to help, will be fully protected in their work and rights—those who quit should have the full knowledge that they have nothing to gain and everything to lose, because the actions of the Labor Board will be upheld by public opinion, and there are many good men among the ranks of the unemployed who are ready to take their places."

"The strikers will lose their jobs, seniority, pension and other privileges, and in most instances their families will be forced to suffer with them."

"Let me suggest that you now give very serious consideration as to the action you should take as an individual in event of strike, and its probable effect upon the future of yourself and family, after which I am of the firm belief that you will decide that it is to your best interests to remain in the service of the company."

months to a day. It is not for me to touch upon the merits of your opposing positions. I have not called you as a partisan of the mine worker or the employer. I do not mean to discuss a single phase of controversial questions.

The main point is to bring you together and in that contact of man to man, mindful of the necessity of righteousness in any useful and abiding relationship, to have you frankly and fairly consider your problems in their relation to the welfare of our common country.

It is pretty generally recognized that there are fundamental difficulties in present-day coal production, the solution of which is not to be found in an hour or a day of most friendly and earnest conference.

ONE SITUATION DEMANDING SOLUTION.

"The excess development of producing capacity, in both tonnage available and miners to work it, has presented one situation demanding solution, or there will be inevitable loss of property and a train of unprofitable employment.

The war upheaval and all attending inflations and excess production have left an inevitable and unavoidable liquidation. The interminance in employment has increased.

It is impossible for mine workers who are only employed partial time to pursue their trade at wage rates adjusted to other employments. No industry is soundly based, no American activity can be held secure where employment is compensated on a base of half-time or two-thirds of the normal, natural work period of an American wage-earner.

"There has been instability of production, attended by a failure to deliver capacity, which has reflected in speculative prices and panicky conditions, which encouraged profiteering and menaced our industries and hampered our varied public services.

"Labor has the right, capital has the right and, above all else, the American people have the right to be freed from these recurring anxieties, no matter what the causes are. That freedom must be established.

FEDERAL INTEREST.

"The government has no desire to intrude itself into the field of your activities. It does feel an obligation to see that the common American interest shall not be menaced by a protracted lack of fuel.

It prefers that the two great and associated interests—mine workers and employers—should settle this matter in a frank recognition of the mutuality of our interests. If you cannot do that, then the larger public interest must be asserted in the name of the people, where the common good is the first and highest concern.

"I have said that the fundamental problems probably cannot be solved in a hurried conference. But this conference might well advise the agency for effecting a solution. This is the purpose of calling you together—the beginning of a solution. Meanwhile, operations ought to be resumed. With diminishing fuel supplies, with menacing shortages, as we turn to winter's approach, with unemployment visiting its hardships upon idle mine workers and with vast ownership without return on investment, it would seem to be the simplest common sense to find acceptable grounds on which to resume activities, with commitment to accept the righteous adjustments which may well be expedited in common consent.

NO TIME FOR RADICALS.

"This is no time for the militant note of the radical who would prefer to destroy our social system; no time for the extremist who thinks the period opportune to break down organized labor. The government has no ear for either of them, but would gladly lend its co-operation in curbing the extremes of both. More, the government gladly renders to its good offices, in striving for righteous solution. It has no desire to participate in a merely temporary makeshift. For the good of all the people, the government craves a way to permanent stability, tranquillity and ample periods of employment at just wages, righteous freedom for workers and righteous freedom for management, and a secure freedom from recurring menaces of suspended activities. It may be expedited in common consent.

CANDIDATE FOR VETERANS' HEAD QUILTS, HURLS LIE

Seattle Man Withdraws From Race; Charges Villification.

MAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—Captain C. Hamilton Cook of Buffalo, New York, is the new national commander of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, having been elected to that office at yesterday's session of the second annual convention of the organization, which has just come to a close here. The vote was unanimous. The session was held in Native Sons' hall.

Ralph S. Horr of Seattle, senior vice-commander and candidate for national commander, withdrew his candidacy, declaring that he had been the object of a deliberate campaign of vilification.

SUCCEEDS JUDGE MARX. Captain Cook succeeds Judge Robert Marx, who declined to be nominated for the term although the strong effort was made to persuade him to take the office again. Captain Cook seconded a move to amend the constitution to permit Marx's re-election.

The other officers elected were:

J. H. Hanbury of Omaha, Neb., senior vice-commander.

James A. McFarland, Dalton, Ga., first junior vice-commander.

Ed. R. Hug, Chicago, second junior vice-commander.

William J. Duffy, Providence, R. I., third vice-commander.

H. P. White, Palo Alto, Cal., fourth vice-commander.

Michigan Aronson re-elected by acclamation as chaplain.

In declining to allow his name to be placed in nomination, Judge Marx said: "My comrades, the nomination so generously made was wholly unauthorized by me. I love the men and women who were willing to fight for their country and are now willing to fight to keep it clean. Redshirts like the one you tell me is the cardinal thing I have had to do. But I must do it."

Minneapolis was named as the convention city for 1923, after Providence, R. I., had withdrawn from the contest in the Middle West's favor.

VERBAL BOMBHELL.

Hor's speech in resigning and declining to run for the office of national commander came as a verbal bombshell among the delegates.

He said in part:

"Comrades, I am not a candidate for any office. But as your retiring officer, second in command, I wish to say that I have gone through experiences during the last few weeks that I would not go through again to President of the United States."

"Comrades, how you have been quite strong with your stand in command with one who dared to hope that he might be elevated to the office of commander? I am resigning my office so that I can meet my traducers face to face and tell them they have lied against my character and actions."

"Commander, I am loyal to this organization. You may have heard rumors that the disabled veterans in several States were contemplating going off by themselves. I want to say that Washington will be the last State to disrupt this organization."

"But I serve notice now that the attack on me must cease. This organization must be built on comradeship, and it is not right to try to drive men from our organization who want to help you."

LEAVES HALL.

At the conclusion of his talk he left the hall. When several of the committeemen jumped up to answer the charges Judge Marx refused to grant them the privilege of the floor. He called for the election of officers.

Several resolutions were adopted yesterday. One asked the officials of the organization to appoint a committee to investigate conditions in the U. S. Veterans Bureau. A request was also made that President Harding should a committee for a similar purpose.

The organization went on record as favoring the adjusted compensation bill, better known as the bonus bill. Support of the program of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and United Spanish-American War Veterans was pledged.

Best wishes were extended for the speedy recovery of Comrade Woodrow Wilson, who was subjected to so many hardships during the war. This resolution was passed amid applause.

Bee Sting Causes Man to Lose Control

TECUMSEH, Mich., July 1.—J. D. Cox of Detroit, en route to Rome City, Indiana, with his family for a vacation, lost control of his car here when a bumble bee alighted on his nose and stung him severely. The car swerved into a ditch and turned turtle. Mrs. Cox sustained a broken arm. Cox, his brother and two children were uninjured.

$10,000 NECKLACE A TOY. BOLTON, England, July 1.—Thinking a necklace of beads he found was worthless, Thomas Larson gave it to his child for a plaything. He later found it was worth $10,000 and got a large reward.

Free Fireworks At Idora, July 4

Aerial peacocks spreading the colors of the rainbow across the heavens; The Lilies of Flanders, giant aerial bouquets; Umbrellas of fire, spreading their radiance a thousand feet; Gold from California, magnesium wires; Borealis, presenting the story of the northern lights; giant bombs and curving, sizzling sky-rockets, not to mention numerous other pieces—these will furnish the fireworks at Idora Park, Ohio, at 9 o'clock Tuesday night.

The great pyrotechnic display will close to park patrons. Grandstand seats in the big outdoor stadium will be available at 50 cents each, and a stand for the fireworks.

900 MEN HELD FOR GAZING AT VEILED DANCERS

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Eight hundred men guests at the Emil Sohn Club, where the entertainment included a veiled dance by four young women clad only in scant pieces of gauze, were arrested by police raiding parties early today.

Patrol wagons from five stations working in relays were used to transfer the prisoners to several stations where they were booked for disorderly conduct.

Harry Cohen, host at the entertainment, was charged with violating a state statute prohibiting indecent public performances.

The four women, after discarding their veils for more substantial attire, were booked on similar charges and ordered to appear in the morals court with Cohen.

The raid establishes a record for the number of arrests in one day.

ELEVATOR TYPE AERIAL MACHINE HELD POSSIBLE

Expert Says Helicopter or Vertical Raising Plane Is Proven Feasible.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The helicopter, or vertical-lifting air machine, is not an impossibility, and should a real use for such a type arise, successful ones may be seen before many years, according to Dr. Albert F. Zahm, aeronautical expert for the navy. Had there been a need for the helicopter during the war, he said, any of several types could have been perfected, of which working models have been built.

Dr. Zahm is an expert on design and construction of all manner of flying machines. For years he has applied his time to perfection of the airplane and is well qualified to pass upon the capabilities of any.

That the helicopter is possible, Dr. Zahm said, is proved by the German machine, which, rising several times to moderate height, has carried observers, remained almost stationary while in the air, and descended in safety. The machine, however, has made no extended flight, such as would prove its dependability, but was tethered to the ground by a mooring rope. At times, when the motor failed, the machine dropped and the passengers saved themselves only by leaping with parachutes.

Elks Float Will Be 'Chopped Out' Of Lake Scenery

The aid of city officials was enlisted to chop a Fourth of July float out of the jungles around Lake Merritt, and the Fourth of July parade is now admitted to be complete in all arrangements.

The float belongs to the Oakland Elks. The Elks designed a float full of color and life and beauty. The materials were mobilized at Nineteenth and Alice streets behind the new municipal museum, and there assembled.

The float became more and more gorgeous. Also larger. Finally its general outlines were finished. But then it was discovered that the float had assumed such a monumental proportion that it couldn't be moved out of the yard without cutting away a fence, some trees and possibly the Snow African game museum.

A "S. O. S." call by J. Cal Ewing of the Elks summoned city officials to the scene, and by devious ways they finally unfolded a plan for back-alley exit without destroying either the float or the museum, though a few fences were bound to come down temporarily.

EXPERIMENTS CONTINUE.

The experiments are continuing, however, with the purpose of perfecting a motor which can be depended upon to maintain the machine without sudden failure.

Precise hopes of attaining successful vertical flight rest mainly upon the endeavors of Emil Berliner, Washington inventor, whose experiments with the helicopter have extended over a long time; and of Louis Brennan of London, whose newest machine is reported as nearing completion. He is working to win the 50,000 pound prize offered by the British air ministry for successful flight.

The helicopter upon which most experimentation has been made consist mainly of two or more propeller screws mounted horizontally on a vertical shaft, bearing engines, fuel and passengers. Equal numbers of propeller blades must revolve in opposite directions that the body of the machine may not spin like a top. The motors, tanks and body have been mounted in various positions, but the German machine has a sort of "pupit" car mounted at the top of the shaft over the propellers for the operator.

OTHER TYPES OBSERVED.

Another type of which Dr. Zahm observed experiments with a working model, was almost identical with the present type of plane, except that mounted behind the body, were two sets of air vanes in groups, tilted at an adjustable angle, like those of "Venetian blinds." When the power was turned on, he said, the "pupit" of the aircraft spun on the propellers, pushing against these groups of vanes caused the model to rise vertically.

A type offered to the army, he said, was of the present wing plane, equipped with three propellers, two placed far out toward the wing ends, and with vertical rudders and ailerons similar to those in use. The quicker lifting power was to be gained by having the wish of the central propeller upon elevators on the tail of the body, while the side propellers would wash against special ailerons on the wing tips.

When in the air, Dr. Zahm continued, this machine could maneuver exactly as does the ordinary plane.

Any of the types advanced would, in warfare, be of great use, provided for observation. The main disadvantage that of being a good target for artillery fire. Its stationarity could be offset by quickness of movement from point to point and short stops while hovering.

ADJUTANT CHOSEN.

The temporary appointment of W. R. Trobe as adjutant of the local post of the American Legion was ratified at a special meeting of the Legion last night. Trobe's appointment will be confirmed at the regular meeting next Friday.

Trobe, who was formerly vice-commander of the post, will resign from that position to take up the new post. He replaces Henry Van Dyke, who was unable to serve because of the pressure of personal business.

PROPOSED BRIDGE OVER STRAITS UP TO GOVERNMENT

Construction of Span Across Carquinez Straits Depends on U. S. Permit.

SAN FRANCISCO. July 1.—Whether the Carquinez Straits will be spanned by a toll bridge erected by the San Francisco Transit company now rests with the government.

If a permit is granted for the bridge, Dr. Otto G. Freyermuth, president of the company, says that the construction of the span will be started within ninety days and will be completed within fifteen months.

This statement was made following a meeting held by Colonel Herbert Deakyne of the United States Army at the capitol at the Octagon House yesterday in which the bridge project was opposed by various interests, led by Daniel A. Ryan, counsel for the Province of the Holy Name, Dominican Order.

The Dominican friars are the owners of the land at Dillon's Point where the transit company proposes to rest one side of the bridge.

QUESTIONS PLANS.

"Since we own the land at Dillon's Point," said Ryan, addressing the transit company officials, "we want to know how you propose to get on your bridge?"

Ryan also questioned how "a $35,000 company intended to build a $2,500,000 bridge" and asked: "What do they intend to do? How do they intend to do it? If they get the money?"

These questions were answered by Dr. Freyermuth, the president of the company in a statement.

"We did not originally incorporate for $2,500,000 because we knew our plans would depend on whether or not we received Federal authority to build our bridge.

We have every assurance, however, that the funds will be available immediately the permit is granted, if it seems best to the Federal authorities to grant it."

OPPOSITION VOICED.

In addition to the opposition made by Ryan, H. H. Sanborn representing river boat companies and grain shippers of San Carla offered objection to the plan. The California Automobile Trades Association is also opposed to the scheme of a privately owned bridge as against a public crossing.

In favor of the bridge is the Oakland Merchants Exchange and the San Leandro chamber of commerce.

The proposed bridge is a single span, 3,100 feet long, from Crockett to Dillon's Point, Solano county. The bridge will span the water at a height of 135 to 136 feet, which Captain L. M. Cox, public works officer at Mare Island, testified yesterday would be sufficient for the passage of any battleship.

The hearing yesterday is the last to be held, according to Colonel Deakyne, and no decision will not be rendered by the Federal authorities pending the issuance or non-issuance of the permit.

MURDERED MAN FOUND.

THE DALLAS, Ore., July 1.—The unidentified body of a man was found partly submerged in the Columbia river near here yesterday. The man apparently had been hit by blows on the head and his body hurled from an automobile on the Columbia River, which crosses the river at this point. Rocks had been used to weight the body.

MISS YVONNE ALFERITZ of Berkeley, whose marriage to Olof Lundblom of that city will take place Monday in St. Clement's chapel. —Boye photo.

Miss Alferitz To Be Bride On Monday

St. Clement's chapel in Claremont will be the scene of an afternoon wedding Monday, when Miss Yvonne Alferitz of the Hotel Claremont will become the bride of Olof Lundblom at 4 o'clock. Only immediate members of the family will witness the nuptial ceremony, the couple leaving immediately for a motor trip to Lake Tahoe on their honeymoon.

Miss Alferitz is the daughter of Mrs. G. C. Alferitz of San Francisco, and was a student at the University of California.

Lundblom also attended the State University, and is a Sigma Nu fraternity man. He is a son of Erik O. Lundblom.

The bride will wear the conventional gown of satin and lace, trimmed in crystal beading, the veil being caught with orange blossoms. She will carry a handsome shower bouquet of orchids, lilies of the valley and tulips.

Miss Gladysden Rosenau of San Francisco will be the only attendant upon the bride and will be gowned in French blue taffeta and silver lace. She will carry a shower of pink bridesmaids roses and fern.

Mrs. Newton Koser and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Koser of Piedmont, are at Fallen Leaf Lodge, where they will pass the fortnight to come. Miss Koser is one of the debutantes who assemble at Tahoe during July.

LAVENDER AND WHITE WEDDING.

Lavender and white wisteria were combined in a floral setting for the marriage of Miss Esther Whulin and Orlin C. Harter of Marysville at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Whalin of Redwood City. Half a hundred relatives and close friends were guests at the ceremony and buffet supper that followed.

Dr. William Edward Parker Jr., an uncle of the bridegroom, officiated.

The couple have left on a three weeks' motor trip and after August 1 will be at home to their friends in Marysville.

The bride wore an afternoon gown of periwinkle blue over jade green silk and carried orchids, lilies of the valley and bride roses in her shower bouquet.

Miss Marian Whalin, the bride's sister, was bridesmaid and wore gowns of lavender and jade green respectively.

Orlin Harter was best man for his brother.

Harter comes from prominent Marysville family and is a graduate of the University of California with the class of '19. He is a member of the Chi Psi fraternity.

The bride is a graduate of Mills College with the class of '20 and taught school in Marysville for two years.

Miss Beatrice Rogers of San Leandro left for the Yosemite Valley last week to be the guest of Miss Rosalie Scott at Camp Curry.

Miss Irma Skaggs left for Yellowstone Park last evening to spend her vacation. She accompanied party of friends.

Miss Agnes Marcella Carter and Mrs. Mollie Carter, her mother, have left for Los Angeles to visit friends and relatives.

LEAVES FOR BAR HARBOR.

Ensign Howard Hogan, U. S. N., who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hogan, left early in the week for Bar Harbor to spend the remainder of his leave with his fiancee, Miss Mary Cooper Allison of Philadelphia, later joining his ship, the U. S. S. Rochester, at Newport.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ball are visiting in San Diego and are guests at the St. James hotel indefinitely.

Pleasant Interdenominational church was the scene of a brilliant wedding last evening, when Miss Grace Lillian Peterson became the bride of Curtis Atwater. More than two hundred guests witnessed the service, read by Rev. Griffith Griffiths of this city.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Peterson of Chabot Road, where a reception for the bridal party and relatives was held following the ceremony.

Curtis Atwater was best man and the attendants upon the bride were Mrs. N. J. Lund, matron of honor; Miss Zelma Bishop, maid of honor, and the quartet of bridesmaids.

Miss May Davis, Miss Margaret Rand and Miss Margaret Fulcher and Miss Hazel Cluff.

The bride wore a gown of white moire crepe and crystal beading, with which was worn a tulip veil, the headdress of Brussels lace being brought overseas by the bride's brother. Lilies of the valley, orchids and gardenias were combined in the shower bouquet.

The matron of honor wore orchid crepe de chine and lace; Miss Cluff wore deeper shade of lavender. The bridesmaids were in apricots, French blue, gold and Nile green frocks of crepe and carried shower bouquets to harmonize with their gowns.

Ted Bonner, Millard Peterson, Carlton Osgood and Olmstead Atwater were ushers.

The couple have left on a motor trip for their honeymoon.

ARMY OF MICE, GIRL'S VISIONS

There they were—gray mice and white, an army of them on either side. They retreated when pursued, advanced boldly as the pursuit was abandoned. The scampering of thousands of tiny feet made a sound like the wind in a lonely forest.

This sound brought fear to the woman's heart. The armfuls of mice might come and go; it was the mournful sound that shook the heart of the woman. So she took something from a squat, blue-glass bottle, and the wind died away to a whisper, and she was gone.

They put her in a cockpit. She waited there a long time. Four hours later she received a phone message at her home; and here was the temper with the blue-glass bottle. The end of this story is not yet written.

Samuel Woodman, too, had visions. He thought that he saw the girl with the yellow jade ring—the white girl who was murdered in "Little Asia," San Francisco's Chinatown. Edward Huntington Williams, M. D., takes Woodman to the Pacific dance hall in search of the missing—but read this chapter of "The Trail of the Serpent" in The Sunday TRIBUNE, it is written by the author of "The Wall City," "History of Science," in eleven volumes, "The Forest Pilot," "The Narcotic Drug Problem," etc.

Hundred Per Cent Club Names Directors

Four new members of the board of directors of the Oakland Hundred Per Cent Club were elected at yesterday's luncheon meeting of the club at the Hotel Oakland.

The new directors are: Neal Harris, E. W. Stenberg, Roy Williams and S. E. Rhinehard.

New officers of the club will be elected next Wednesday and will be inaugurated next Friday, it was announced.

STEPHENS ENTERS PRIMARY RACE FOR RE-ELECTION

Governor in Announcing His Plan Accepts Challenge of "Selfish Interests."

LOS ANGELES, July 1 (By the Associated Press).—Governor William D. Stephens, in a statement here last night announced that he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor to succeed himself.

In his announcement of his candidacy Stephens said:

"More vital to the state or the nation than the personal aspirations of any man is the maintenance of a system of government consonant with the ideals and interests of the people.

Realizing that, because of reactionary activities, a change of administration at this time would mean a complete change in the character of government that this state has endorsed and ratified on many occasions, I hereby submit my candidacy for re-election as governor of the state of California.

PRINCIPLES OF GOVERNMENT.

"The greatest good to the greatest number, the maintenance of law and order and the progressive development of the human and material interests of this state have been the guiding principles of my administration of the state's affairs and of the legislation that I have approved.

"This has been evidenced in our agricultural progress, in our education expansion, in our extension of child welfare work in our progressive legislation, in our legislative support of national constitutional prohibition, in our equalization of taxes to the end that public service corporations should pay their just proportion in harmony with the demands of our state constitution, in our increased efficiency through administrative reorganization and consolidation, and in other measures, upon which I am prepared to stand, as an evidence of good faith and as a guaranty of the continuance of progressive policies in this state.

"Notwithstanding the greatest increase in the cost of materials and in the cost of living that the nation has experienced, our state expenditures have been held to a strictly conservative basis in all our normal administrative functions. Only in the educational and constructive activities has there been any marked increase and the larger part of this advance was necessitated by the direct vote of the people, whose right it is to determine how much money shall be used and for what purpose."

Schak was desperately wounded in action in the Toul sector in France and was reported killed, but he recovered in hospitals. He is a vocational student in the University of Montana here.

Alleged Bad Check Passer Faces Trial

ROBERT F. BRADFORD failed in his attempt to prove himself insane in order to escape criminal trial on charges of passing a $1,000 fictitious check on a local jewelry store.

At an insanity hearing yesterday Bradford, District Attorney Earl Warren presented testimony that "I am not a wealthy Eastern broker, and had 'played' a local real estate man, a local bank and several jewelry stores against each other in his alleged illegal operations."

Bradford was ordered to stand trial July 7 on the fictitious check charge.

SORORITY HEAD ELECTED.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 1.—Mrs. Sheldon D. Graff, of Colorado, was elected national president of the Alpha Chi Omega sorority in the final session of their convention yesterday. The other officers were re-elected.

Business within the state and this increase has gone into future developments which are vital to our future economic and business welfare.

"In California, after the war, necessary legislation sought to control the legislature and to weaken the administration by a subtle and organized movement which was dangerous to the economic welfare and democratic government of our people as any corporate control that was ever exercised in the history of the state, but fortunately in battling against these forces the people were victorious.

"I am fully aware that these selfish interests have thrown down the gauntlet in the coming election and I feel called upon to fight again for the independence of government for the people by the people.

"The state's future is bright with promise. The rapidity of our progress and the safety of our institutions demand a government in which are combined a courage to meet reactionary propaganda, an understanding of existing economic conditions, a cautious attitude toward increasing expenditures, a practical sympathy for the human welfare of our people and a constructive policy of state development."

"To meet these demands I pledge my best endeavors."

STATE EXPENSES.

AUTO DIVES INTO RAVINE; 2 HURT

BAKERSFIELD, July 1.—Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Partridge, of Santa Monica, were injured yesterday morning at 10 o'clock when their automobile plunged backwards into a deep ravine two miles above Caliente. The accident occurred as the car was going up grade behind a truck.

Partridge is suffering from severe lacerations on both legs and torn ligaments in his right foot. Mrs. Partridge was badly bruised. Both are in a hospital in Bakersfield. Mr. and Mrs. Partridge were on their way to Kernville on a vacation trip.

Passer of Checks Is Styled "Malingering"

Robert F. Bradford will have to stand trial on a charge of attempting to pass a fictitious check for $1,000 on an Oakland jeweler as the result of an examination conducted at the receiving hospital yesterday to determine Bradford's sanity.

Since his arrest recently Bradford's attorney has asserted his client is insane. The test, according to the lunacy board, convinced the members that Bradford is "malingering." He will go on trial July 7.

Bradford is accused of tendering the check in payment of a diamond ring.

WOMAN WHO WAS IN FIRST PARADE TO MARCH AGAIN

Mrs. Sarah H. Wilson Took Part in 1869 Parade Held Here.

A woman who participated in the first parade ever held in Oakland on July 4, 1869, will be in the Independence Day parade next Tuesday morning. Immediately following the parade she will fire the first gun which will bark out its salute to the dead at Lakeside park.

She is Mrs. Sarah H. Wilson, commander of the Women and Girl Workers of '61 and '65. Mrs. Wilson settled in Oakland early in 1869, participating in the parade which was held on July 4 when John B. Felton was mayor.

Mrs. Wilson will be accompanied in the parade by Henry H. Woodruff, officer of the day of Appomattox post, G. A. R.

In discussing the first Independence Day parade held in Oakland Mrs. Wilson today described it as a small delegation of marchers headed by a flat mounted on a hay wagon and drawn by four horses. Her life has been one of varied experiences. Today she said that she will march in the parade over a portion of the ground she covered fifty-three years ago. "I'm just as spry today as I was then," she said.

Every detail for the military and civic parade has been completed. The only thing lacking, according to Eugene K. Sturgis, is a sufficient number of automobiles to care for the G. A. R. Veterans, who are too feeble to march, and for the disabled men.

Those who will drive their cars in the parade for that purpose are requested to notify Harry Nelson, secretary of Oakland Post No. 5, American Legion, who has been designated to handle this work.

Women and Girl Workers of '61-'65, who will go in a float in a parade on the Fourth of July, will meet on Fifteenth street, between Washington and Clay streets, at 9 o'clock.

Placerville Route Best to Tahoe

Motorists intending to visit Lake Tahoe over the weekend should use the Placerville route.

This announcement was made today by George Grant of the touring bureau of the California State Automobile Association, who said that the Auburn route is in bad shape and not recommended for travel.

Grant suggested for week end trips Santa Cruz, Big Basin, Marin county, Napa county, Lake county, Yosemite Valley, Calaveras, Big Trees, the Bear Harte country and the Feather river.

Woman Fails in Suicide Attempt

Mrs. Mabel Layman today is recovering from the effects of poison which she took last night in an attempt to end her life. Her home is at East Telstar street.

She was taken to the Emergency Hospital by Lawrence Galland, 5308 Bryant street, who was with her at the time she swallowed the poison. He told Police Inspectors William Marshall and Edward O'Donnell that she had been despondent because of family troubles. He says that she is separated from her husband.

MESSIAH PLEASES GREAT AUDIENCE AT AUDITORIUM

Performance Given as Prelude to Endeavor Convention Proves Success.

By ROY HARRISON DANFORTH.

The glories of the Handelian "Messiah" never fade. Place it even in mediocre hands, and its potency still is sure. Offered as it was last evening under Wallace Sabin's direction at the Auditorium arena new delights appear at every aria, every recitative, every chorus.

Set Sabin down as a manager of ability second only to his musical worth. The excellence last night was due to good management. One need know little about music and still be unable to guide a chorus or lead an orchestra. Organization counts here as well as in a chamber of commerce membership drive. Sabin knew how to organize. He could take integers and combine them into imposing numbers. They fell into line like squads in a company drill.

Add to this several other things about last night's "Messiah." There was, for instance, an unusually high quality among the soloists. There was sufficient quantity to give the chorus power. The orchestra was willing to be led. More than once in a while you will find an oratorio orchestra that thinks it is the whole show. There was, too, an audience of such enthusiasm and size as gave spirit to the performers.

Grace Davis Northrup re-entered the local musical arena with the authority of a national figure. The Eastbay found it possible to attract as neighbors many who have made their musical mark, because so many of these are from our midst. Mrs. Northrup sang in a way to warm our memories. Her voice gains in breadth and roundness. Its musical qualities were never in doubt when she was here before, but she has learned more about using the voice than she knew then. It was a splendid rendition of the soprano role she gave last night, intelligent in addition to its numerous beauties.

The other members of the quartet were not dispossessed even with an "imported" leading soloist. Among them was also a fitting unanimity of purpose. They sang well separately and they sang well together. Hugh J. Williams got a more dramatic ring into his singing than I have heard from him before. Harry Perry's tremendous bass roar was tempered like the wind to the lamb to fit the reverential nature of the material. Ruth Waterman Anderson sang in her richly colored voice the contralto part. Bessie Beatty Roland accompanied at the piano.

The performance of "The Messiah" was an event prefatory to the state Christian Endeavor convention, which opens here next week. If that convention is as imposing spiritually as this concert was musically, its mark will be set deep upon Oakland.

DESIGNS URGED FOR NECKLACE OF LIGHT POLES

Committee Will Hold Choice of Type Until Donations Are Made.

As one of the by-products of Oakland's campaign to ring Lake Merritt with a "necklace" of 500 ornamental poles donated by citizens, many designs for such poles, in metal or concrete, are now being submitted to the committee in charge of the pole campaign, and many suggestions are being received, with the number increasing daily.

Discussion has started as to whether the lake's "necklace of light" should have one-light poles, two-light poles or three-light poles. Advocates of this or that plan have started sending their ideas to Commissioner W. H. Bacus, City Electrician Carl Hartly, City Treasurer H. J. Anderson and the other officials who have charge of the pole campaign.

"We are not favoring any choice," say members of the committee. "Poles are being donated by the citizens of Oakland, but the final design is a matter for the future, when we are ready to start construction."

One-pole, a two-light affair, has been suggested by a concrete firm. This pole would have the donor's tablet at the base of the pole. Other plan to have the tablets near

"But first we want the poles fully donated," says Bacus. "The matter of where to put the donors' names will come later."

Seven more donors of poles are listed today, adding to the big collection of Oakland citizens who are helping with the "necklace of light." The new donors include:

V. O. Lawrence, Redwood Partner; N. D. G. W. Calfee, M. Orr, Merchants' Exchange; Knights of Columbus; Employees of Hotel Oakwood and Mrs. C. F. Smith.

BRUSH FIRE PUT OUT.
SAN LEANDRO, July 1.—A fire believed to have originated from a lighted match or cigarette tossed from a passing machine, swept through the underbrush and small trees in the bank of the San Leandro creek, near East Fourteenth street, yesterday afternoon. It was extinguished before any material damage had been caused.

MATERIAL FOR A HOME AND $25.

You never heard of such an offer in your life. The Realty Syndicate Company offers you a home free and $25 if you purchase one of the beautiful lots in Cheviot Heights or Columbian Park Saturday afternoon or Sunday. Why not take that month's rent, that you would pay for July, and that you will save on your tax bill, and secure enough material to add your home free. If you hustle a bit you can also have $25 in cash by finishing your home before the tenth. Call Frank E. Emerson, Realty Syndicate Company, Lakeside 1600, for further information. There will be an expert on the ground to answer all your questions. Free busses will leave the Syndicate every 20 minutes Saturday afternoon and 1 day Sunday—Advertisement.

The remarkable fertility of the San Joaquin Valley

Striking proof of the productiveness of this region is furnished by the records of a few farmers from a section near Modesto.

G. N. Pfarr produced 45 tons of Philip Cling peaches from 350 trees which sold for $35 per ton, and 37 tons of Tuscan Cling peaches from 4 acres which sold for $35 per ton.

E. P. Swanger harvested from 6 acres $977.50 worth of beans as a second crop after taking off a large crop of oat hay.

Silas Spyres from 10 acres of barley filled two 60-ton silos, and then planted the 10 acres to corn and again filled the 60-ton silos.

J. H. Barnhart produced 570 sacks of potatoes from 5½ acres, selling them at $2.50 per sack.

F. E. Jamison harvested 300 bushels of potatoes from one acre.

What these men have done you can do.

You will find a list of desirable San Joaquin Valley Farms in the Classified Columns of today, and especially of last Wednesday (the Wednesday Color Section).

DRIVE FOR NEW HOTEL RAISES $257,000 FUND

Demonstration Marks Wind-up of Campaign; Plan for Church Ready.

PETALUMA, July 1.—Petaluma will have her new hotel Friday saw the windup of the campaign, and a demonstration took place on the Main street plaza where the result was checked on the big billboard erected for the occasion. Whistles blew, sirens shrieked and bells rang. The final figures quoted were $257,000.

The most interesting testimony of the day was that of young Galloway himself. "I don't believe I meant to shoot me," he declared. "The girl broke down and wept when told of these words of the boy whom she had loved.

Galloway told a straightforward story of the shooting. "A girl friend told me," he said, "that Irene was walking near the church. I went to find her to take her home. She told me she was going to run away. I told her she would be foolish to do that and then I noticed that the barrel of a pistol was sticking out from under her coat. You had better give me that gun," I said, I reached out to grasp it and just as I did so it went off. I probably pulled it hard enough to discharge it. Anyway, I don't think she meant to shoot me."

TELL'S STORY.

Cleveland Kenneth Carlisle, another school friend of the boy and girl, took up the story from there, telling how he had been the first person to reach Galloway as he lay on the sidewalk. Carlisle told how will include the Marine band from Mare Island, representatives of all the local lodges and fraternal organizations from other cities, the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, the Martinez concert band, Sam DeLuca, and other individuals and organizations.

The participants in the parade

Pleasanton Moves To Prevent Fires

WATSONVILLE, July 1.—At a quiet wedding in the study of the First Presbyterian church of Santa Clara, Rev. Warren D. Moore, the pastor, officiating at high noon yesterday, Miss Dorothy Fredericks and Peter W. Peterson of this city, were united in matrimony. The ceremony was witnessed by only a few relatives and close friends of the contracting parties. The couple slipped away to Oakland, where the honeymoon will be spent.

Peterson is one of the leading fruit growers of the Pajaro valley.

The bride was on the nursing staff of the Watsonville hospital.

U. S. Engineer Picked For African Project

CAIRO, July 1.—Fire prevention orders were issued here yesterday by William H. Graham, chief of the Pleasanton fire department. The orders issued, according to Graham, will be strictly enforced because of the danger of a fire starting spreading through the valley.

Removal of all dry weeds, grass and rubbish, restricted burning of rubbish and instructions for methods to safeguard against fire are incited in the orders. Care is being given by landowners outside the incorporate limits of Pleasanton to maintain these same regulations.

One fire, burning over 2000 acres, on the Fredericksen ranch here, has already occurred this season.

Boy of 7 Drowns In Irrigation Ditch

MODESTO, July 1.—Homer Pittman, seven-year-old son of K. Pittman, pastor of the Trinity Center Presbyterian church.

Twenty-first and Capp streets,

San Francisco, was found dead

last night in one of the irrigation ditches at the Terkirk ranch, three miles east of Modesto.

Rev. Pittman was pastor of the Modesto Presbyterian church here for fourteen years, answering a call to San Francisco in 1919.

The boy, now 7, was swimming in the irrigation ditch when he disappeared. His body was found in the water about 100 feet from the shore.

WOMAN KILLED, FOUR INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Driver of Speeding Car Involved in Wreck Held in Gilroy Jail.

SAN JOSE, July 1.—Mrs. George Russ, prominent Seattle society woman, is dead today, her husband and three children are in the Gilroy hospital, and A. Martelli, San Jose rancher is in the Gilroy jail as a result of crash in which the Russ automobile and the car driven by Martelli. The latter admits he had had one drink, but affirms that was all.

The Russ family was en route to Seattle after a visit in Los Angeles. They had stopped to change a tire, a short distance south of Gilroy. The Martelli car, driven at considerable speed, crashed into the rear of the Russ auto, throwing Mrs. Russ and the three children out into the road.

Mrs. Russ died a couple of hours later.

Russ was not thrown clear of the machine, but he was so badly hurt that for a time his life was despaired of. He and his wife and the children were hurried to the hospital and Martelli was taken to the jail. It is expected he will be charged with manslaughter.

Martelli claims he was not at all intoxicated. Russ is the purchasing agent for the McLaughlin & Nelsen Manufacturing Co., one of the largest firms in the Northwest.

By a strange coincidence three other Seattle people were injured at about the same time when the automobile of A. M. Jones of Seattle skidded in the sand of the San Juan grade and crashed into a tree. Both Mr. and Mrs. Jones and Miss Mary Johnson, who was with them, were hurt. They were also taken to the Gilroy hospital.

Masonic Initiations To Open New Temple

STOCKTON, July 1.—The new $100,000 Masonic Temple will see the first initiation within its walls tonight, when Stockton Chapter, O. E. S., uses the magnificent structure for that purpose, having been awarded that honor. The Masonic lodges, consisting of twenty-eight lodges, will be conducted into the chapter and three additional members will be received by affiliation. The following grand chapter officers will be present: Stella Linscott, associate grand matron; Zella Sampson, associate grand conductor; Lillian Stacey, grand Electa. The grand chapter degree team will put on the work.

Violator of Liquor Law Is Fined $300

LODGE, July 1.—Found guilty by a jury on charge of having liquor in his possession, Peter de la Porte was yesterday sentenced by City Recorder H. F. Ellis to pay a fine of $300 and serve 90 days in the county jail. His attorney pleaded for leniency, but the court held his last minute plea. He was fined $300 each on two counts. On September 1, following his arrest on a charge of violating the city liquor ordinance, de la Porte has a restaurant and candy business here.

Italian Books Sent To Stanford Library

PALO ALTO, July 1.—As a result of the recent visit to Stanford University of the Italian ambassador, Signor Ricci, the Hoover war library has received a gift of important books, pamphlets and documents published in Italy during the world war. They are the gift of Commander Alessandro Sapelli, secretary to the ambassador.

Shredded Wheat

With Strawberries

The whole wheat steamed-cooked, shredded and baked a crisp, golden brown—all the goodness of the wheat combined with the most luscious berry that comes from American soil. Nothing so wholesome and satisfying.

When you ask for Shredded Wheat be sure you get the original Shredded Wheat you have always eaten, made at Oakland, Calif.—always clean, always pure, always the same high quality. Two biscuits with milk or cream, or with berries or other fruits, make a satisfying meal.

HAYWARD

vations. The committee is now ready to sign exhibitors for the coming year, and according to Dr. McCord all space should be occupied by the last of this month.

The campaign will follow upon the heels of the perfected organization of the poultry breeders' association, which will insure inspected flocks to hatcherymen.

According to Russell T. Robinson, county agricultural agent, more than 25,000 hens have already been signed in the association.

AUTO CAMP PLANNED. HAYWARD, July 1.—An active campaign to sell Hayward chicks in Alameda county will be launched immediately by local poultrymen, it became known today. ## JOHN W. MORRIS, PIONEER RAILROAD BUILDER, PASSES

Was Assistant Superintendent at Construction of the Central and S. P. Lines.

John W. Morris, pioneer railroad man and for nearly seventy years a resident of Oakland, died today at his home, 756 Thirteenth street, at the age of 94. Morris lacked but ten days of reaching his ninety-fifth birthday.

He was a native of Pennsylvania crossing the plains to California in 1850.

He was one of the early railroad builders, having been assistant superintendent under General Superintendent James H. Strobridge at the time of the construction of the Southern Pacific and the Central Pacific lines.

The rock for the Oakland mole was sent here by Morris from Niles. Ninety carloads of rock a day were used to make the filling.

Morris took to his bed with some ordinary ailment about eight days ago. His death was due principally to old age.

He was born in 1827, died July 1, 1922, at the age of 94.

His daughter, Mary Elizabeth Morris and Letitia M. Morris, survive him. He had one other daughter and one other son, Clarissa and John E. Morris, both of whom are dead.

The funeral will be held at a local undertaking establishment at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning. Interment will be private.

WOMEN TO FORM BUSINESS CLUB

BERKELEY, July 1.—Preliminary steps toward the organization of a Berkeley Business and Professional Women's Club were taken last evening at a meeting held at a local business place with approximately 40 persons in attendance.

Mrs. C. R. Reilly, a former president of the Berkeley Federation of Parent-Teachers' Associations and an employee of a local bank, was chosen temporary chairman of the organization. Mrs. Josephine Rice was chosen vice-chairman.

A committee of five was named to prepare a plan of organization and to report at the next meeting of the club, to be held on Monday evening, July 17, at the home of Mrs. M. R. White, 2534 Bancroft way.

On the committee which will draft by-laws and prepare other necessary steps for a permanent organization are Mrs. M. R. White, Dr. Kate Gompertz, Miss Mildred Lesser, Mrs. A. F. Rodgers and Miss Rose A. Glavinovich.

Miss M. B. Wilkins, of the Oakland club, and Miss Z. Clements of the San Francisco organization were speakers at the meeting, explaining the work of the organization, which now, according to their statements, numbers 2800 members throughout the state. Cooperation of business and professional women in reaching a common goal was given as the object of the club.

Notes on San Jose Social Events

SAN JOSE, July 1.—A series of very delightful bridge teas are occupying the attention of a group of the socially prominent friends of Mrs. Raymond J. McMahon these days. The most recent tea place is the lovely McMahon home in Manhattan Park. The naturally attractive rooms were made trebly so by a profusion of summer flowers in every conceivable shade. Combined with the bright frocks of the guests the effect was artistic and satisfying.

Among the invited guests were Madame E. Roseus, Warner Whiting, Alice Ferguson, Dutton, Horatio F. Cokendall, Alfred Madson, Kenneth Cokendall, J. B. Zellers, Douglas Howard, Leroy Scott Moore and Peter Borough. The afternoon passed swiftly and delightfully.

Mr. and Mrs. George Swett, with their family and Dr. and Mrs. William Van Dalem have just returned from a thoroughly delightful trip to the Yosemite.

Mrs. William Knox Beans and her daughter, Mildred Beans, returned today from Carmel, where they had been spending the late summer months. There will be made the motif of several smart affairs during the next few weeks.

St. Joseph's hall was the scene this afternoon of a card party, a church benefit. Because of the smartness of the arrangements card parties are always attended for word and attended in large numbers. Today's party was no exception.

Mrs. Edith Jarmian is spending a vacation in San Francisco at the Mark Hopkins art institute. Miss Jarmian is a young lady of extraordinary talent.

Lasell, 3; Mrs. Annie Harris, 1; Mrs. P. B. Butcher, 3; Mrs. Sarah J. Portman, 5; and James D. Donlon, 5.

Canal Floods Fields; Is Under Control

RIPON, July 1.—After flooding the county highway, holding up traffic for a day and damaging a large acreage of grain and garden truck, the main irrigation canal truck was brought under control at a late hour yesterday. It broke near Weston and swept over the road two feet deep in places overrunning the pasture ranch grain field. As the big canal was still full it was very difficult to control, and men with scrapers and gangs dumping sacks of sand into the break worked all day before stopping the break.

Cruelty Charged In Divorce Suit

MARTINEZ, July 1.—Charging extreme cruelty, Alberta H. Hopper of Richmond, today filed suit for divorce against Herbert B. Hopper. In her complaint the wife says that her husband struck her in the face on numerous occasions, calling her vile names and told her she did not love her. The wife asks custody of three minor children and $75 monthly for their support.

Divers Fail to Find Drowned Girl's Body

HANFORD, July 1.—Professional divers brought here from San Francisco have failed so far to locate the body of Phyllis Hendricks of this city, who was drowned in King's river near here last Monday.

Hunt for Missing Girls Begins in S. J.

SAN JOSE, July 1.—Two missing girls from the San Joaquin valley are being sought here today upon clues which pointed directly to this city. They are Miss Thelma Daniels, 19, Tracy, and Miss Hortense Ford, 16, Turlock.

The girls drew officers searching for Miss Daniels, a scrawled note pinned to a curtain of a hotel here and signed with her name. She is supposed to have disappeared while attending a barbecue near Turlock with Earl Merrill. Merrill claims he returned the girl to her home, but she has not been seen. The boy is being held.

The Daniels' girl disappeared from her Tracy home last Wednesday, supposedly with Michael Saunders. The man was found in a market street hotel, naked, and was brought into the police office for questioning. He admitted having known the girl but said he had not seen her since he left Tracy.

He said he would leave for Tracy immediately to aid the girl's father in the search for her. In the meantime local officers are scouring all local hotels and rooming houses for signs of the two young women.

Death Summons Antioch Physician

MARTINEZ, July 1.—Dr. Edward A. Diggins, until recently a practicing physician at Antioch, died yesterday at Weimer hospital. The funeral will be held in San Francisco, Monday.

Three years after he graduated from the Cooper Medical college in 1898, Dr. Diggins enlisted in the military service as a surgeon with the rank of Lieutenant. He made his home in Antioch in 1911 and resided there until the declaration of hostilities. In the world war he again joined the colors and was assigned as surgeon to the transport Logan. At the conclusion of the war he returned to Antioch.

Dr. Diggins was 46 years old and a native of San Francisco. He is survived by his widow, Bessie Diggins, two children, Eddie Diggins and Elizabeth Diggins, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Diggins of San Francisco.

Auto Tour Halts for Wedding Ceremony

SALINAS, July 1.—En route from the bay region to San Diego, late yesterday afternoon, Walter G. Vogel and Miss Alice Hogan halted on their trip long enough in Salinas to procure a marriage license and join hands and hearts at a wedding ceremony performed at the city hall by Justice David Wallace. In their application for the license the bridegroom gave his age as 21 and his residence as a wholesale butcher shop in San Francisco. The bride gave her age as 20, occupation as stenographer and residence Berkeley.

RUNAWAY BOY KILLED.

MANTECAL, July 1.—Elmer Tilton, giving his alibi at 13 and his name as Elmer Lake City, was picked up on the "dreaded" Comstock express and turned over to County Probation Officer J. A. Norwood.

The lad says he ran away from home.

AUTO IS STOLEN.

ALAMEDA, July 1.—E. M. Barnes, 506 Central avenue, parked his automobile in Oakland yesterday. Some one stole the car. Barnes reported the robbery to the police of Oakland and Alameda.

SERMON SERIES ANNOUNCED ON MODERN BOOKS

Rev. Clarence Reed, pastor of the First Unitarian church, gave a series of sermons last summer on "Modern Books of Great Worth," which attracted much interest. During the month of July he will give another series of books with vital messages. These will be given on Sundays at 11 a. m. in the subjects and dates being as follows:

July 2—"The Fruits of Victory," by Norman Angel.

July 9—"United Windows," by a gentleman with a duster.

July 16—"The Direction of Human Evolution," by Edwin Grant Conklin.

July 23—"Job," a new translation by Morris Jagstros Jr.

July 30—"The Revolt Against Civilization," by Lathrop Stoddard.

The first of the series will be of special interest, as the present book by Norman Angel, "The Fruits of Victory," is being discussed throughout the world, as was his book on "The Great Illusion," when it was published ten years ago.

According to Stoddard, many of the provisions of the Versailles Treaty are unworkable, and so will the seeds of future wars.

No Easter in Church Year.

PHILADELPHIA, July 1.—A church year without an Easter Sunday is the anomaly figuring in the statistics of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. As related to the Twenty-third Avenue Baptist church, the pastor, Rev. Dr. Lewis Seymour Judge, stated clerk of the denomination, from the office of the General Assembly, Philadelphia, Pa., said: "Sunday last year was the first time in history. The total number of Sunday school members for the year was 1,502,616, an increase of nearly 70,000 over the previous year."

The Presbyterian church in the United States had 47 synods and 30 presbyteries with 1,100 ministers and 970 individual churches offering by 47,511 elders and 18,362 deacons.

The total number of communicants for the year was 1,502,616, an increase of 70,000 over the previous year, and the greatest amount in the history of the denomination. The rolls show 98,256 added by confession of faith, 85,334 added by certificate from other churches, and some 200 students attended the Daily Vacation Bible school, to raise the membership this week by at least 100 new students.

Patriotic Program Of Music Planned

A program is being prepared by the Melrose Methodist church for tomorrow evening, which is to be of a patriotic nature.

A male chorus will sing patriotic music including "America the Beautiful." J. H. MacLafferty will give the address of the evening using as his theme "The Past, Present and Future."

CHAPTER 18.

Selling Stolen Cars

If the thief who stole your car went out and tried to sell it without disguising it, the first policeman who saw your license number on it would pick him up.

If he advertised it for sale through the papers, an investigator who inspects all such cars would look at the engine number and learn instantly that it was stolen property. Or if these numbers had been changed, the owner might identify it through some equipment on it.

Individual thieves very seldom go into the business of disguising stolen cars unless they are attached to some garage or are working for some fence. Certain gangs, on the other hand, do maintain their plants for this purpose.

As a rule, however, the thief races with his machine to the shop of some "fence" and sells his "find" out of hand. These "fences" may be "robbers before," big, reputable dealers who buy stolen stuff surreptitiously, and hand joints, wrecking firms or machine shops. They are equipped to dismantle a car in a few hours, drill out identification numbers and insert others, shift tires, change accessories to other cars, and repaint the entire body if necessary, almost before the owner has had time to notify the authorities.

While the officers on the beat are being given the numbers of the stolen car and are told to look for it, the automobile has already been changed beyond recognition, so that it might safely pass in review before the entire detective bureau and not be spotted.

The next trick that must be turned is to secure a license which will have all the earmarks of genuineness.

I have already explained several methods employed.

Another trick of the thief is to buy an old wreck of a machine for $25 or $50 and have the title and license transferred to him legally. "Sky" that he secures a license for a 1910 Rattlemobile. Through this license the state has in a way insured his rightfull title to the car.

The thief goes out and steals a brand new 1923 Rattlemobile, worth perhaps $5000. He changes his license to the 1910 car to correspond to the up-to-date car. He cuts new engine numbers and factory numbers on the $5000 machine and fills in the old number with white paint. In the meantime he has painted his 1910 model or dumped it in the river or bay.

With the stolen $5000 car equipped with state credentials, he can sell it readily enough and even the owner of the new Rattlemobile would be able to point his finger at his former possession and say:

"This is my car."

If the thief cannot get a legitimate license, his next best bet is to steal the license numbers from some stored car which is not in use and throw away the license plate, for which every officer on his beat is looking.

Of course if it is the intention of the thief to get his cars out of the country immediately, a disguise may be unnecessary. Two reputable dealers operating in Tacoma and Seattle, Washington, bought stolen machines, merely took the license plates off of them, loaded them onto a boat, and shipped them to the Island of Java where they found a ready market through a confidential agent.

Thousands of stolen cars are taken over the Canadian and Mexican borders annually with only the license plates changed. Mexico is the mecca for the automobile thief because the United States cannot extradite the criminal. It is estimated that more than 100 cars a month go over the international bridge at El Paso alone, and Douglas, Nogales, Eagle Pass, Mexicali and Tia Juana are often sighted in this regard.

Organized rings with headquarters in dives just across the Mexican line conduct marauding expeditions. The United States steal a large number of automobiles and escape with them into a land of outlawry again.

Once a car is taken into Mexico it is impossible to recover it. A San Jose (Calif.) man traced his automobile to Chihuahua, Mexico, but the thief boldly defied him and the Mexico authorities refused to act. An adventurous youth said he could get that car for $200 and made his way across the border with it, only to be captured and imprisoned.

He was stayed at the Mexican diplomatic authorities, "Bunting the Auto."

"I don't want to cry on your shoulder, but I want to shake you by the shoulders in delicious delight, at the efficient way you soothed them. You are right, Jerry, perfectly so. It is the state of mind. One views a short neat skirt with clean the 't's; another views the same with an ornery evil feeling, prompted by hide-bound smugness, or low order of bear he carries it round. They refuse to be tolerant; refuse to let the light of your thought filter through their smugness, but provoke, collect it up, and then he is an 'Old Batch.' If he had been accumulating a cent thoughts and a tolerant attitude, I'd date, he would not see something evil in clothing, neither would he judge all bad until proven so, instead of good, 't's proven bad. Why can't they see that all people tried to strangle all but decent thoughts of each other, there would be no more evil in looking at the men, all right, there are good ones, including my own husband, but you all know he has but one, the only one, who has travelled."

Jerry, My Love:

I just gotta write. When you're all Bath, your answer, I'll hug myself with joy. Jerry, I was very busy but I worked round, I patted you the back, and I'm in love with you, and I'll go at hat. But

"OH, BEAUTIFUL!" I whispered to myself, "AND THIS IS LIFE!"

GOVERNMENT PROTESTS BRIDGE DELAYS.

The United States Government has finally taken official cognizance of the protracted and exasperating delays in removing the obsolete bridges that obstruct navigation in the inner harbor of Oakland. In the river and harbor bill reported from the committee on commerce Thursday a rider is attached to the item which authorizes a continuation of work in Oakland Harbor, stipulating that no further work be permitted on that portion of the harbor east of the Webster and Harrison street bridges until these bridges have been removed.

Action was unquestionably taken on the recommendation of the Government engineers. This restriction, unless removed, will mean that no channel improvement can be made for a number of years in a section of Oakland's harbor where development most vital to the immediate and future commercial growth of Oakland and Alameda is taking place. Even with the work prosecuted under the most favorable circumstances it would be difficult for the improvement to meet the increasing demands of commerce.

The delays have been most unfortunate. However, there have been certain extenuating circumstances which tend to absolve Alameda county from blame. First the war. The Federal Government intervened then. Then the recession of the Southern Pacific Company from the joint agreement, which necessitated revised plans, as the structure without the Southern Pacific traffic did not need to be so massive; besides, the withdrawal of half of the cost which the Southern Pacific was to stand necessitated new plans.

There is to be a referendum in August to determine the question as to whether a tube shall be substituted for the bridge. Should a preference be expressed for a tube a new bond election must be called to provide additional funds. If the voters decide in favor of a bridge no new bond election will be necessary as bonds have already been voted and in part issued, and should any additional amount be necessary it can be taken from the general funds. The present bond issue, according to the District Attorney, cannot be utilized for a tube, as the people specifically voted for the construction of a bridge.

The Board of Supervisors have already assured the Government, in a letter addressed to the War Department, that they will not countenance further delay, and the referendum in August is not likely to cause much additional postponement, but will tend to clarify the situation by settling the controversy between bridge and tube proponents and removing all excuses for further delay. In the meantime, however, business interests located on Oakland harbor east of the bridges should not be penalized.

In the light of all the facts the restrictions should be removed on the floor of the senate or in conference in view of the assurances given by the Board of Supervisors, Oakland Chamber of Commerce and other responsible bodies that no further delays will be tolerated.

When married couples break away and seek the courts for a judicial severance of the tie evince wisdom if they refrain from attempts to justify themselves or blame and hate each other. It may be remembered how Eddie Farrar and Lou Tellegen got into it when they decided to quit each other. Public was rather fully advised as to the worth of each by the other. Now they have it up, and what was said then appears rather foolish. It is wise in such matters to burn all the bridges.

Opponent Dempsey found the criticism over his refusal to meet Wills too strong, and has voted to test the matter with the negro to whether he is to continue as the bantam, in the sense of keeping the champion up in Caucasian circles. It may be, however, that such hope will not be universal. There will be quite a number who will refrain from the fight if the contender gets a solar-plexus blow.

that will change the status in this respect. There is not that warm admiration in fandom for the "present incumbent" that there has been for champions in the past—J. L. Sullivan, for instance.

CHIEF JUSTICE TAFT ABROAD.

Considerable good-natured notice is taken of Chief Justice Taft's visit to England and the deference that is being shown him. It is of a somewhat different tenor from that accorded Ambassador Harvey. It seems to be incumbent to refer to the diplomatic representative jokingly, but all reference to the Chief Justice evinces an understanding that he is by no means a joke.

Chief Justice Taft has not gone abroad on an idle errand. It does not appear that he is even on vacation. The main object of his visit is to examine more closely into methods of administering the laws, to examine court methods close up. He is to report to the American Bar Association the results of his observations, probably with recommendations for reform in our judiciary practices, traditions and customs.

The statement is often made that the court methods of Great Britain are so much better than those of this country, that laws are enforced and causes tried more promptly and unerringly. As to promptness we are likely to remember Dickens' famous case of Jarndyce versus Jarndyce and the circumlocutionary methods which he pilloried in "Bleak House." Still it appears that a good deal may be said to the advantage of English law practice over that which prevails in this country. Not everything that may be charged against the methods here may be true; but enough has been verified in the common experience to justify efforts to correct some of the abuses.

The ostensible visit of the Chief Justice suggests that effort is to be made high up in the scale to get the courts on a better basis. It is hoped that his report to the National Bar Association will give sufficient impetus to the movement to stiffen the backbones of minor bar associations. It is widely believed that any notable reform, such as that of curing delay in trials, the badgering of witnesses, the management of juries, and the many practices that are more or less confusing to litigants, would gain impetus if taken up and energetically and intelligently advocated by bar associations. Yet there is no record of any bar association strenuously acting to abolish delays. In San Francisco, for instance, there are sixteen departments of the Superior Court. The judges fall over each other, yet ease lag and drag. If anything happens that a cause cannot be tried on the day set because the judge is engaged in something else, no effort is made to bring in another magistrate, but the case is put down at the foot of the calendar to come up again, though there may be magistrates who are wholly idle.

This is only one abuse, and may be somewhat crudely stated; but the courts are very far from being run as a well-ordered business is run in economizing time. As to the failure of justice even in aggravated cases much could be said and comparison made with English courts to the latter's advantage. At that, however, it is very possible that the superiority of English courts is somewhat over-stated. There is likely to be a cynical willingness to admit the over-statement, and yet contend that a superiority exists.

When Chief Justice Taft returns and makes report the same will be read with much interest. For the people have great faith in his ability to size up legal processes and customs, and in his sturdy Americanism which will point out our own defects as readily as it approves our superiority in other lines of endeavor.

Comment on the unusual case wherein his mother-in-law took away by force a policeman's revolver is extended and various. One trend is that it serves him right to be now threatened with the loss of his position through the idea of the authorities that a policeman who loses his weapon in such a contest is not qualified to guard the peace. But perhaps the contest was not inconsiderable. If any reliance is to be placed on popular accounts and belief it was a genuine affair, in which the vanquished party made as good an effort as could have been expected of any man.

THE PRESIDENT'S ANSWER TO THE PHILIPPINE DEMAND.

An old-time ditty may be drawn upon for the substance of the President's reply to the visiting Filipinos asking for immediate independence for their country: "There's a good time coming, boys. Wait a little longer."

How much longer the President does not say. He could not well say at this time. The question remains where at present it properly belongs—on the knees of the gods.

The temper and taste of the reply are admirable. The Filipinos are complimented on their aspirations, and on the progress they have made under a rule and tutelage giving them hope, and assured that while that rule and tutelage continue their interests will continue to be carefully guarded.

That the President feels concern in the matter and the full weight of his responsibility is attested by his course. He would not act until an investigation of conditions in the islands had been made, and he appointed for the work the most competent men available, both of them familiar with the territory and the people. As they reported against immediate independence, he naturally accepted their judgment and has acted on it.

While the visitors have failed in their object, their long journey has not been without compensation. It has given them opportunity to meet the President, and discover that he is not profuse of promises nor lacking in friendly candor; and they should return home inspired by the discovery to assist him to the full to make continued American direction a continued success in the archipelago.—Washington Star.

IF EDWARD WHY NOT GEORGE?

To the Editor of The Tribune: The Crown Prince of Germany recently published a statement which furnishes the solution of the sorry situation prevailing today in Europe. His words breathe hope. Here they are: "I will go further and assert that King Edward, if he had lived longer, would probably not have stopped at the creation of a triple entente, but would perhaps have built a bridge between the Triple Alliance, and thus brought into being the United States of Europe." It may be remembered that Mr. Lloyd George, who spoke eloquently in wartime about "sharing our government, sharing even our heart's best blood, with nearly the whole world," etc. It occurs to me, Mr. Editor, that what King Edward had in mind to do, and what in war time seemed so simple to Mr. Lloyd George, might well be taken in hand now by King George and his prime minister, who well characterized Europe nations today as "snarling at each other's heels." Difficulties no doubt exist, but none need be insurmountable. It is thirteen American colonies in municipalities which had seemed equally impossible, and was really so because of the then difficult state of communication. Nevertheless, when done; impending wars, tariffs, etc., were averted, and measurable benefits resulted. The measurable impetus to industry and commerce by the removal of hampering barriers and the developing of public resources to constructive purposes would make of Europe another New World. Why not?

REGULATED CONVENTION.

We shall be glad to see the State go back to the regular convention. Wise politicians said at the time the State was turning from the regulated indirect primary to the direct primary that the chief fault of the latter system was in its destruction of party responsibility.

That sound argument did not have then the attention which it deserved. Party government has abuses and they were conspicuous in the minds of the people at that time. It also had enduring virtue, and that was obscured. A party organization which makes government its business rests upon the approval of the electorate, and its desire to win and keep the approval necessary for its retention of office is the great check upon political mismanagement.

A party organization may ride a long way in the wrong direction, but there never was one which so rode which did not wind up in the ditch, and that is appreciated by politicians more than it is by the electorate.

A party organization which is subject to the indirect influence of the electorate in making nominations and the direct influence in elections is for the most part cautious. It has full information regarding the candidates. That is something which the mass of voters cannot have. A party organization acting with intelligent selfishness can produce more fit candidates than a mass of electors acting without sufficient information to be wise.

We believe the State will do well to go back to the regulated primary and convention. The question is not one of theories but of consequences, and we have had a long experience with a system which has not proved itself by its results. It may be unpleasant to discard a good theory, but it is worse to continue with bad results.—Chicago Tribune.

S. F. TONG BATTLE MAY REOPEN WAR IN COAST CITIES

Suey Sing Chief Killed and Six Wounded During S. F. Battle.

Chinatown today is awaiting developments on the gun-fight in San Francisco yesterday which resulted in the killing of the president of the powerful Suey Sing tong, the wounding of six others, one fatally, and the almost certain reopening of the tong war.

Chung Gee Hing, president of the Suey Sing, was shot to death and Jue Chew, a companion, was seriously wounded in an encounter with six other Chinese in a shack near Hunter's Point, in San Francisco. More than thirty shots were exchanged by the tongmen.

According to the police it is believed that Chung and Jue went to the shack to demand money for fishing rights from the other Chinamen, who are engaged in the shrimp fishing business. It is thought that one Chinaman was encountered first, gave fight and was aided by the others in the shooting.

Those under arrest are Wong Bing, Quock Yung, Quock Sue, Go Chung and So You. The last named is the caretaker of the shrimp outfit known as the Golden Gate Shrimp Fishery, and the police believe that he was the first one interviewed by the visiting Chinamen.

Sergeant E. W. Brock of the Chinatown squad in Oakland is in charge of a detail of police who are guarding against an outbreak here as a result of yesterday's clash.

WHIRLWIND DRIVE PLAN COMPLETED

Several Hundred Workers to Comprise Four Divisions in An Effort to Add 1000 Members to Organization

Between four and five hundred Oakland business men are being "mustered in" today to participate in the big offensive that will be waged week after next by the Oakland Chamber of Commerce to obtain at least 1000 additional members and a $25,000 service fund in a whirling four-days drive.

The team of mobilizing clubs have begun last night when the eighteen majors who will lead divisions in the drive met with their captains at the Chamber of Commerce to select team workers.

Under the plan that is being followed in building the team organization the several hundred workers will comprise four divisions. Four or five majors will be in charge of each division, which will consist of five teams, each led by a captain. From four to seven workers will make up a team.

Majors in the drive are Charles L. Anderson, M. L. Teutsch, W. H. Peterson, H. C. Knight, Harold Austin, A. L. Redlick, E. B. Field, M. G. Reeves, J. J. Rosborough, George E. Mellon, R. H. Couzins, G. W. Hightower, C. Lutz, W. J. Barrett, T. H. Larklin, R. A. Knapp, Charles Hyers and R. O. McClane.

Enthusiasm and confidence prevailed at the meeting last night when the majors and their captains met to select their teams. Workers are already inspiring themselves to a lively fight for high keep rivalry has sprung up which divisional and team honors among the twenty-five teams.

The intensive canvass will begin a week from Tuesday morning, July 11—and continue until July 14. Three hours a day for the four consecutive days will be devoted to the actual canvass. The workers will hold luncheons daily during the drive to make reports on the morning's work.

Women Favor Child Labor, Report

The Child Labor or constitutional amendment proposed by United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson will find support from large numbers of women in the southern states, according to Mrs. Chester N. Sutton of Shreveport, state chairman of the department of child welfare, Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Sutton is a visitor in this part of the state, coming to California to make survey of the practical working out of progressive legislation in relation to welfare and education of children.

"Women of the south are rallying to the protection of their children from industrial exploitation," Mrs. Sutton says. "California's work along this line has been a beacon light which we are following."

"With the backing of national legislation, there is no doubt but that the women of the south will strive to aid in this tremendous benefit to the children of America."

Wet Paint on Boat Costs S. P. Commuters' Aid

If the merger plan of the Southern-Central-Union Pacifics goes to a matter of a vote of the Alameda commuters, the local railroad will be in a position to shout forth that memorable line about Brutus being among those present.

Heretofore the Alameda delegation has been as strong as the marsh air for the Southern Pacific. Today that spirit of peace and good will has faded back into the gentle's bottle and quarter will not be asked or given.

The reason for all this dissension and ill-will came bright and early this morning when the entire day was ruined for thousands of commuters.

Here is the how of it:

For a week the Garden City has been doing the transportation honors. Today arrives the Oakland with a new coat of paint, in a measure of speaking. There were too many "holidays" the commuters decided. Hither and yon were spots untouched by painter's brush.

The anchor was painted black on one side. The bootblack became annoyed when taken from his duties to hear a suggestion that he polish the other side. The

She is survived by her husband, a well known local advertising man, and a son Wallace Cribbins. Mrs. Cribbins has been confined to her bed for the past two years.

Epperson, Tract Manager, Realty Syndicate Company, Lakeside 1800, and let him tell you about it. He will be an expert on the grounds to show you how to build your house.—Advertisement.

Fiscal Year Begins; Changes Ordered

The new fiscal year began today for the city of Oakland and several changes which have been impending went into effect, including minor changes in the street department. Many city departments were authorized to liberate moneys which though not yet appropriated, will be provided for in the 1922-3 budget.

The budget estimates of the various departments have been cut by Commissioner of Finance William J. Baccus but cannot go to the budget committee of the city council until they are passed by Williams, furnishes his total assessment for the city, which, of course, will be larger than last year because of natural growth. Williams is expected to produce his assessment Monday and then the council will fix the tax-rate.

CLUB URGED TO HELP IN C. C. DRIVE

"How and Whys" of Chamber of Commerce Expansion Campaign

What is the purpose of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce Expansion Campaign?

To increase the annual income of the organization to $100,000.

How is it proposed to raise this additional income?

By an intensive four-day canvass.

What is the date of the drive?

July 11-14, inclusive.

Who will carry on this canvass?

A team organization of between 100 and 500 business men who will devote three hours a day for four days.

What was the income of the Chamber of Commerce in 1921?

Approximately $50,000.

How did this income compare with that of other Pacific Coast cities?

Oakland stood last among all the cities of size on the coast, being surpassed by such cities as Long Beach, Fresno, San Jose, Sacramento and Stockton.

What was the per capita support given the Chamber of Commerce last year?

Eighteen cents.

How did this compare with other cities?

Again Oakland was last. Stockton gave $1.80 per capita, Vallejo $1.56 and other California cities in similar proportion.

Why is this increased income necessary?

To permit a broader scope of activities in keeping with cities of like size.

longer have to buy their supplies in San Francisco. He also stated that the Chamber of Commerce is working for better rapid transportation from the railroads to districts into the center of the city.

Discussing the International Health and Safety Exposition which is to be held in Oakland, Everett stated that arrangements have been made to stamp all the

EDUCATION BOARD HEAD NOT CHOSEN

Falling to agree on the selection of a president for the coming year, the board of education this morning continued its election until next Thursday night, though today was the official reorganization date for the board.

All committees were also laid over until Thursday for appointment.

The election of a president was done by ballot, without nominations. Two directors were absent. Those present were Boyle, Campbell, Chandler, Short and Baccus. The first ballot gave Boyle 3, Hatch 1 and Chandler 1. The second ballot did the same.

"There's no use in continuing this," said Mrs. Short. "Let us lay over the matter until we have a full board."

Those voting for Boyle included Boyle, Campbell and Baccus. Directors Short and Chandler said they were opposed to his continuing as president of the board of education.

Don Rice was agreed upon as business manager for the coming fiscal year, at $4000 per annum, and John W. Edmondson was continued as auditor for the same salary. All voted in favor of their re-election but Boyle, who said he did not favor a one-year contract.

The contract for furnishing paste to the school department for the coming year was awarded to the Fifes Paste company, at $1.15 for paste in crocks.

ST. LOUIS BROWNS STILL HOLD A THREE-GAME LEAD OVER THE "ALL-STAR" YANKEES

CLINTON PROUGH IS WINNER IN HILLTOP DUEL WITH KRAUSE

Ted Cather's Wild Heave to Plate Lets in the Winning Run in Eleventh Inning.

By EDDIE MURPHY.

Charley Pick's Senators behaved themselves like a lot of champions instead of cellar dwellers at the Oakland Coast league park yesterday afternoon and copped another win from the Oaks. On paper the Senators may not look any too good because most of the players are placed out of position due to injuries, but when that outfit is given good pitching it is hard to beat. If you don't think so, just ask Ivan Howard or Harry Krause. Krause was the fellow whom Ivan picked to do the pitching and opposed to him was a former Oak, Clinton (Bill) Prough. The Senators won the contest because they scored the most times in 3 to 2 score. The dope book says Harry Krause should have won the ball game, but it happened to be one of those days when Harry did not get all that was coming to him.

Mary did not get credit for the win because there were a few costly bunts made behind her by Ted Cather and Bill Mariott, the couple of fielders of the local club who have done good work for the past couple of weeks. When a fellow makes an error that is costly the fans talk about it for awhile, and some of them forget about all the good work the player has done before. Ted and Bill just about booted the game away on Harry Krause's broad-minded face, is not going to censor the pair of Oaks, and instead they will remember that the couple of gentlemen won lots of ball games in the past and will help to win more in the future.

Ted Makes Wild Heave, Winning Run Tally.

Eleven innings was the length of the contest, and it was in the final inning that Cather contributed his costly bunts. Krause and Prough had pitched fine baseball, the Oak beaver allowing seven hits in all that time, while ten were collected off Prough. The count was 2 to 2 when McGaughan, the first batter to face Krause in the last inning rolled to Cather for an out. Schang lined a hot one over short that Brubaker jumped high into the air after and found the ball too hot to handle. Schinkel popped out, and then Schang stood second. Now came the bad break for Krause. Buddy Ryan hit straight on the ground to Krause's right field. Ted Cather made a nice stop on the ball and as he was about to throw out Ryan he dropped the ball. He recovered and had Schang trapped between third and home, but Ted became hasty and made a quick throw to the plate, the ball going high over Mitze's head and Schang reached home safely, while Ryan raced to second. Then Sheehan popped to Brubaker. Cather and Brubaker fled out to left for the Oaks in the eleventh, and Schulte went to bat for Mitze. Frank lined a fast one to right center, but Schinkel was on his toes and made a nice catch of the ball, and the Oaks were a beaten ball club.

Ari Koehler Bunts When Long Hit Meant a Run.

In the third inning Mariott started the ball out for their first run by letting Pearce's bounder get by him. Stango was out on an infield razz. Pearce took a game chance and stole third, and Prough brought him home with a sacrifice fly to Cooper. Two dinky infield hits made it tough on Krause and the Senators scored again in the fourth. Schang used his speed to beat out a slow roller to Mariott. Schinkel attempted to bunt and the ball popped over Krause's head for hit. Mariott made a nice one-handed stop of Krause's throw to retire Schang on Ryan's bunt, but then Les Sheehan came along with a clean hit to left field. The ball was in the air that time until the eleventh, the Senators got only three hits off Krause, one of them being to the infield.

Things were not breaking right for the Oaks, otherwise they might have made plenty of runs. They bunched three hits into the fourth and four into the seventh, but got only one run in each. With one out in the fourth LaFayette doubled to left. Mariott was an infielder, left, Cather walked and Brubaker singled to score La Fayette. Art Kosher beat out a bunt to fill the bags. It looked all wrong to Art but he was two out and the team was in the ninth, so second. Maybe Kosher followed his instructions. Harry Krause did not have a base hit in his bat, so the three men died on the sacks.

This Was Not What You Call "A Lucky Seventh."

The seventh was the inning in which the breaks went against the Oaks. Koehler started off with a double to left. Krause put him on third with a bunt and Howard ran for Koehler. Brown hit safely to center to score Howard. Wille followed with another clean hit. It looked like a big rally was in sight when Claude Cooper hustled a ball that was on its way to the outfield, but Denny Wille got in the path of it and was ruled out. Cooper being given credit for a base hit, leaving only two men on instead of one, was two out instead of one. Payne was not on the job in his pinch, as he hit to Pearce for the last out. The Oaks got only one more hit off Prough, in the ninth inning, they going out in the last three frames.

Oscar Stanage, the big Senator pitcher, is probably the holder of new baseball record. Oscar did have a putout or an assist in the eleven innings, and it is understood that only one other ball had the same happen to him in organized baseball, and he is also a local man who used to catch in Coast League some years ago.

CALIFORNIA GOLFERS TO TAKE PART IN SKOKIE EVENT

PANAMA JOE GANS WILL WORK OUT FOR BENEFIT OF THE OAKLAND FANS TOMORROW P. M.

Western Golf Stars to Play At Skokie Club

Abe Espinosa, Morte Dutra to Represent This Section in Big Turnout.

Four Californians have entered the lists as western representatives in the United States open championship which takes place on the links of the Skokie Country Club at Chicago beginning on July 16th. The recent match of Morte Dutra, Peter Beach, professional, and Abe Espinosa, well known Oakland professional star, attracted the greatest amount of attention as Dutra, by being declared the winner of that match, was to be sent to the tournament.

Since that time definite announcement has been made that Espinosa will also compete in that match while Southern California will be represented by Chuck Frazer and Harry Pressler. Central California's representative will be George Elmer of the Sunnyside Club of Fresno.

The northwest has thus far but one representative headed for the middle western tournament, Joe Novak, the well known Spokane professional who has appeared in matches here and who was professional at the California Golf Club during the months of last winter.

LOS ANGELES, July 1.—Not less than ten Los Angeles golfers will take off in the national open championship tournament at Chicago, July 11. It was announced here this is a larger Los Angeles representation than the one played in the Southern California open championships last winter.

Among the Angelinos to be seen at the windy city are Fred Wright, now at Kansas City, Harry Patterson, Eddie Loos, Joe Martin, Vic D'Alberto, Chick Frazer, Mel Smith, Eddie Gaynor, Jack Croke and Toni Stevens.

SPOKANE, Wash., July 1.—Joe Novak, Spokane country club professional, is on his way to Chicago to take part in the National open golf tournament there next month. Last year Novak played in the National open meet in Washington D. C., finishing in the first twenty-five.

CHICAGO, July 1.—Admission will be charged for the first time at a national open golf championship at Skokie Country Club, July 10 to 15, but the box office receipts will not be required to cover the expenses of entertaining the world's greatest golfers for an anonymous friend has sent the club $2000 to help cover the cost of the elaborate arrangements now working out.

The links has been groomed into perfect condition while plans for the entertainment of players and spectators have been perfected.

With many of Great Britain's star players in the contest to wrest the title from James Barnes of New York, unusually large galleries are expected to pay the admission of one dollar a day or five dollars for the tournament.

Besides the invading Britons, and the defending champion, Walter Hagen, who recently won the British open title and Jock Hutchison, who performed the same feat across the seas last year will be leading contenders.

Donlin Speaks About Money Players Get

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—Baseball players today are getting more money than they ever did and are doing less for it, according to Mike Donlin, years ago a Pacific Coast baseball star and later a heavy-hitting member of the New York Giants. Donlin is in the far west this month doing scout duty for the Boston Red Sox. He was in Texas recently.

"In the Texas League I found a majority of the players ill with a strange disease consisting of absolute refusal to run out flies or grounders that look like easy outs," he said. "That kind of baseball is beyond me."

"I saw Texas League players getting as high as $700 a month loading on balls hit to the infield and running to the bench on high flies. They couldn't do it and get away with it in my time."

"When I was starting, $200 a month was a big salary and believe me, we earned all we got. We ran out all our hits in the days and nights of the players ill with not only that, we had to fight every inch of the way, not only with spirit but with our fists."

Donlin, unlike some other baseball men, was not staggered by the big deal in which Willie Kamm, San Francisco, was sold to the Chicago White Sox for $100,000, the greatest price ever paid for a minor leaguer. Donlin thinks Kamm is a highly developed bit of baseball mechanism.

"The surprising feature to me was that he was not sold two years ago," Donlin said. "The first time I saw him he looked like a big league player and I've often wondered what kept him in the minors."

Panama Joe Gans
Colored welterweight and mid-welterweight champion of the world, who meets Frankie Denny, champion of Twelfth and Broadway, at the Auditorium Tuesday afternoon.

WITH THE KNIGHTS of the GLOVES

BY BOB SHAND.

You can't make Frankie Denny believe that Panama Joe Gans can lick him.

"These colored boys are my favorite dish," chirped Denny yesterday. "I've licked a lot of good ones in my time and I can't see where this Gans is any different from the others."

Denny was not conceded a chance against Jack Davies, but he held the San Francisco lad even. In the main Denny has invariably won, well against men who were doped to make a sucker out of him. His only poor fights were against men he was supposed to defeat with ease. He's a funny proposition, this Denny boy. He does the unexpected and gets away with it most of the time, and it is the unexpected that gets over with the custom's. That's why Teddy O'Hara used to pack 'em in.

Gans is not afraid to show his stuff. You'll be over here tomorrow afternoon to work out for the benefit of the customers who are invited to visit the gymnasium at Seventh and Pine streets, West Oakland. The Gans work-out will begin at 2:30 and will consist of three rounds each with Pickles Martin, Walter Caldwell and Sammy Pelisinger. The colored boy is said to be a wizard with the gloves and he will do it pretty tomorrow. Denny will work out at the same place in advance of the eastern scrapper.

JIMMY Dundee is in shape for his bout with Joe Leopold and promises to set a fast pace. James has been doing all his battling out of town and is anxious to stick around here as a main eventer. Last time out Dundee handed Leopold a real lacing, but Joe held a decision over Jimmy at that time. Leopold, who was managed in the East by Jim Buckley, is being looked after by Sol Levinson, in whom the fans have confidence.

TODD Morgan did not hit French King with the referee last night at Dreamland Rink, but he smacked him with everything else and simply romped off with the decision. The Vallejo boy is set solid with the San Francisco fans now and will grace the top of many a card over there. In the main event Young Papke took the decision from Frank Thomas.

Tommy O'Leary, Eddie White broke even and Racehorse Roberts held the highly touted Sailor Friedlander to a fifty-fifty break.

LOS ANGELES, July 1.—Jimmy Marcus decisively defeated Bud Soules in the main event at the American Legion Hotel yesterday. Both men weighed 165 pounds and will fight Harry Wills and the New York State Boxing Commission until July 8.

Then, so we are assured, they will sign those papers binding the Dempsey-Wills bout for the black and white championship of the world.

That is one cause of their satisfaction. Another is the fact that they are now assured of getting their price for the match, thanks the good offices of the commission. In unburdening itself of the demand that Dempsey sign for the Wills affair by July 10, it left his wills signed in the New York state, the commissioners laid down no mandatory conditions. It merely insisted that he sign.

Therefore, the check that Wills will present for the approval of Wills and his manager will take excellent care of the Dempsey-Kearns interests.

Mullins can sign it or not, as he sees fit, as Kearns will have observed the ruling to the letter. It is a rather singular aspect of the entire business that nobody has yet troubled himself to learn how much Mullins would want for the fight.

Dempsey himself received something like $27,500 for manhandling Willard, but there has been blamed since then. Wills cannot be blamed for wanting it, just dues from an enterprise that promises a million-dollar gate at the very least, but Dempsey and Kearns are shooting at a round half million for their share and after the promoter, who will be Tex Rickard almost to a certainty, drags down his cut, there will be little left for Wills.

H. Wills May Not Get Rich By Big Bout

Pair of Jacks Are Certain to Draw Biggest Part of the Bankroll.

By DAVID J. WALSH,
International News Service, Sports
Editor.

NEW YORK, July 1.—Eminently satisfied with the way business is progressing in these parts, the outfit of Dempsey and Kearns today looks like a rubber head and disappeared in the purpling shadows of the west. They are off on one of their periodical exhibition tours and will forget Harry Wills and the New York State Boxing Commission until July 8.

Then, so we are assured, they will sign those papers binding the Dempsey-Wills bout for the black and white championship of the world.

That is one cause of their satisfaction. Another is the fact that they are now assured of getting their price for the match, thanks the good offices of the commission.

BOHLER RETAINED.

George Bohler, brother of J. F. Bohler of Washington State, has been retained as basketball coach at the University of Oregon for the coming year.

WILLS weighed 211 and Clark 193 pounds. Wills scored four knock-downs in the first round and appeared in excellent condition.

WILLARD himself received something like $27,500 for manhandling Willard, but there has been blamed since then. Wills cannot be blamed for wanting it, just dues from an enterprise that promises a million-dollar gate at the very least, but Dempsey and Kearns are shooting at a round half million for their share and after the promoter, who will be Tex Rickard almost to a certainty, drags down his cut, there will be little left for Wills.

GIRL SWIMMERS To Visit Coast

Aileen Riggan, Helen Wainwright and Edith McCrary, world famous swimming stars of the New York Women's Swimming association, may appear in Portland in July if arrangements can be made with the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club. The three youthful women champions are planning a tour of the Pacific coast.

Their objective is California, but they have been invited by the Crystal Pool club to visit Seattle and may visit the northwest. There would be competition for the girls, but they could appear in several exhibition events to be worked in with a swimming program.

All three girls are holders of many, many national women's records and championships. There also is a possibility that Johnny Weissmuller, the young Chicago swimmer, who is shattering world's records may appear in the northwest.

THESE Texas League I found a majority of the players ill with a strange disease consisting of absolute refusal to run out flies or grounders that look like easy outs," he said. "That kind of baseball is beyond me."

"I saw Texas League players getting as high as $700 a month loading on balls hit to the infield and running to the bench on high flies. They couldn't do it and get away with it in my time."

"When I was starting, $200 a month was a big salary and believe me, we earned all we got. We ran out all our hits in the days and nights of the players ill with not only that, we had to fight every inch of the way, not only with spirit but with our fists."

Donlin, unlike some other baseball men, was not staggered by the big deal in which Willie Kamm, San Francisco, was sold to the Chicago White Sox for $100,000, the greatest price ever paid for a minor leaguer. Donlin thinks Kamm is a highly developed bit of baseball mechanism.

"The surprising feature to me was that he was not sold two years ago," Donlin said. "The first time I saw him he looked like a big league player and I've often wondered what kept him in the minors."

SMITH NAMED CAPTAIN.

NEW YORK.—The Columbia varsity baseball team has elected Harris K. Smith, center fielder, captain for next year. Smith has played centerfield for the last two years, and before that he was a substitute infielder.

Black Sox" Barred From Valley League

OSHKOSH, Wis., July 1.—The Fox River Valley Baseball League has definitely barred from its clubs all "Black Sox" or other baseball outlaws. John F. Kluwin, the league president announced today, following a meeting of the directors. The directors yesterday ordered the Appliance, Wis., club reorganized as a modern baseball club by scoring 130 runs in one week, their final game in this stretch being a 28 to 20 victory over Clovis. In two other successive games they scored almost 80 runs.

AMARILLO Scores 130 Runs in Week

Big league scouts looking for pitchers can evidently save money by keeping away from the West Texas League. According to the Amarillo news of the West Texas circuit, they have created a new modern record by scoring 130 runs in one week, their final game in this stretch being a 28 to 20 victory over Clovis. In two other successive games they scored almost 80 runs.

Helen Wills Off to Play In the East

Berkeley Girl Is Favored to Defend Her Junior Title Successfully.

BERKELEY, July 1.—Helen Wills, the youthful girl tennis champion of the Berkeley Tennis club, departed today for the East, where she is to be active in a series of tournaments on the courts throughout the summer. She is to play in the International grass court tournament here by defeating Miss Harvey, an English player in straight sets. The scores were 6-3, 6-3.

Suzanne Lenglen, tennis champion, and Miss Kathleen McKane, one of England's best players, proved that magnet which attracted thousands of persons to the stands at Wimbledon yesterday to witness their play in the championship tournament.

Success of Suzanne Lenglen on Courts Is Talk of the Tournament.

WIMBLEDON, July 1.—(By The Associated Press).—Miss Elizabeth Ryan, of California, today won her second title in the international grass court tournament here by defeating Miss Harvey, an English player in straight sets. The scores were 6-3, 6-3.

Other interesting matches on the various courts today were the victories of Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Matson, United States, over Mrs. Bullock, England. Miss Elizabeth Ryan, California, won over Mrs. McNair, England; J. G. Anderson, Australia, over A. H. Fysee, India; A. R. Kingscote, France; Gerald Patterson, England, over J. Boyton, France; Henry Cochet, France, over Dean Mathey, United States, and T. M. Davison, England, over G. C. Cane, champion.

After having traveled ten miles more than five thousand persons were turned away from Wimbledon yesterday afternoon, as the stands and every available space were packed with spectators an hour before the matches began. The Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, former King Manuel of Portugal, Grand Duke Michael and Mrs. David Lloyd George were among the crowd that saw the American-Matson and the Lycett-Matson matches. The Prince of Wales and his party were given a great reception.

PHILADELPHIA, July 1.—James Davies and Phillip Neer, Leland Stanford, will meet L. E. Williams and G. M. Wheeler, Yale, in the final championship doubles match of the intercollegiate lawn tennis association this afternoon as a result of their victory yesterday in the semi-final round.

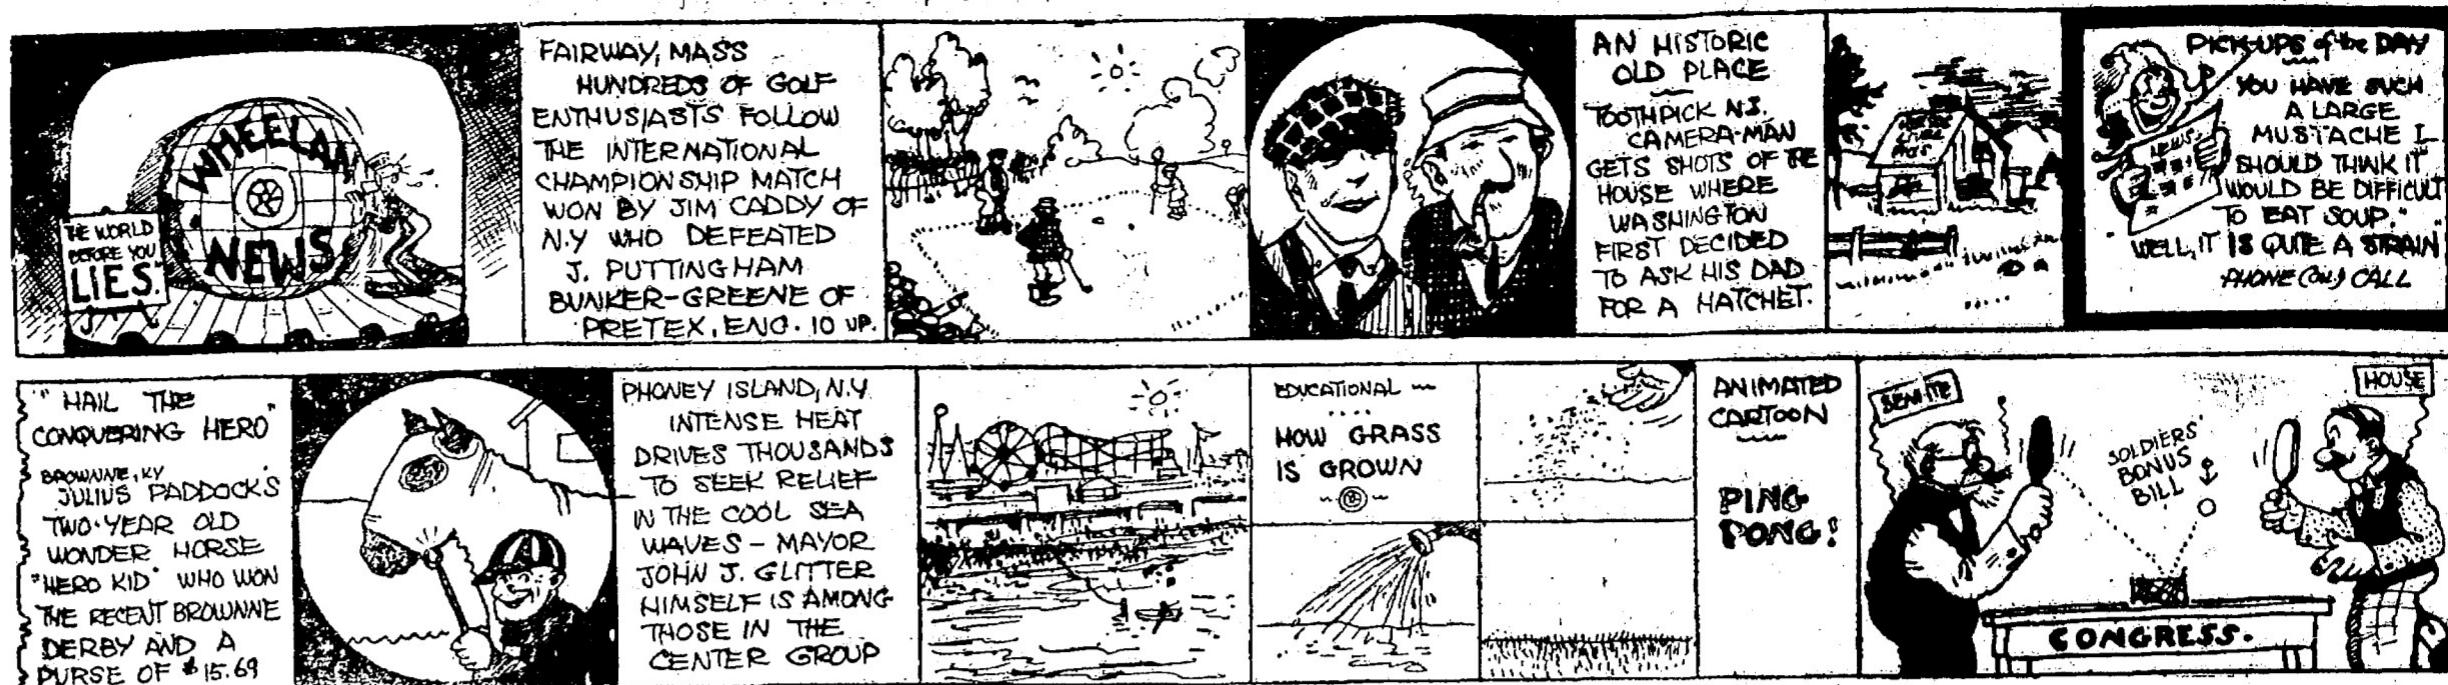

WILLIS, July 1.—Helen Wills, the world's greatest tennis player, is favored to defend her junior title successfully.

No Cause For Alarm

Over the telephone a worried voice addressed the proprietor of a small hardware store in a Middle-Western town.

"Say," the speaker began, "I come in your place today and bought one of them dollar alarm-clocks, and you set her for me to go off at five o'clock in the mornin', 'cause I told you I was goin' to ketch an early train. D'y'e remember?"

"Yes," said the hardware man, "I remember."

"Well," went on the other, "I've just found out that I don't have to set it up at five o'clock in the mornin'."

"Glad to hear it," said the hardware man; "but what do you want me to do about it?"

"I want you," said the customer, "to tell me how to unalarm this here clock."

Uncle Wiggily Stories

by HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGLY TAKES ALICE COASTING

It was a very hot day. The July sun beamed down from the sky, making the earth warmer and warmer. And while this was as it should be in July, to get ready for the Glorious Fourth, still the animal folk in Woodland, near the Orange Ice Mountain, were not very happy. Most of them wore coats of fur or feathers, and while fur and feathers are very good things in the winter, they are not quite so jolly in the hot summer.

"Still we must not complain," said Uncle Wiggily to himself, as he sat in the shade on his hollow stump bungalow and twinkled his pink nose. "It will be cold again soon enough, and then we will be sighing for a warm day."

Just then Nurse Jane Puffy Wuzzy, the bunny gentleman's muskrat lady housekeeper, came out on the porch, fanning herself with her apron.

"I wish I could have a large slice of the Orange Ice Mountain," said Nurse Jane.

"Well, I can't give you that, but I can get you an ice cream cone," laughed Uncle Wiggily.

"Please do," begged Nurse Jane, "and, while you are at the store get me a cake of soap. Dishes must have their faces washed, even if the weather is hot. Get me some soap."

"I will," promised Uncle Wiggily, "also the ice cream" and away he hopped, not very fast, keeping in the shade as often as he could.

"There's one good thing about hot weather," said the bunny, as he twinkled his pink nose slowly, "my rheumatism doesn't hurt so much."

Just then he reached the pen where Alice Wibblewobble, the duck girl, lived. Alice was out in front, swinging on the gate.

"It makes me a little cooler to swing," she told Uncle Wiggily. "But, oh! how I do wish I could have a nice slide or coast on the ice!"

"A slide on the ice! Just fancy!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "There never is any ice in summer, except on top of the high mountains, where we can't go. But, Alice, if you want to come with me, I'm going to get Nurse Jane an ice cream cone and a cake of soap, and I'll get you one, also."

"What? A cake of soap?" quacked the duck girl with a laugh. "I don't like soap, except to wash with, Uncle Wiggily, and I've been washed once this morning."

"No, I meant I'd get you an ice cream cone," explained the bunny. "That will cool you, I think."

"Oh, how lovely! Of course it will!" quacked Alice. "It is very kind of you!" She fluttered down off the gate and walked beside Uncle Wiggily through the cool forest. Soon they reached the soap store and bought a cake for Nurse Jane.

Next day they came to the ice cream store and bought three cones, one each for Nurse Jane,

Rivers in Siberia are different from rivers in other parts of the world in one feature—many of them running over beds of ice. One of the tributaries of the Lena river has a bed of ice from nine to twenty feet in thickness, over which the water has been flowing probably for hundreds of years.

Punta Alegre Buys Baragua Sugar Co.

PITTSBURGH, July 1.—J. R. McCune, vice-president of the Baragua Sugar Company, in a statement made public here today reported that the board of directors had approved the transfer of the Baragua concern to the Punta Alegre Sugar Company. The deal involves $4,250,000 in cash and $100,000 in stock. Stockholders of the Baragua Company will meet next Wednesday to consider the deal.

Cash proceeds of the sale, McCune said, would be used to retire the preferred stock of the corporation at 110. A small cash distribution on the common stock may be made at the same time, he added.

The Baragua Company maintains headquarters at Pittsburgh and has a big plant in Cuba. The Punta Alegre Company with headquarters at Boston, owns about two hundred thousand acres of land in Cuba and Florida and a number of plants in Cuba.

Fruit Market Still in Dumps, Supplies Heavy

Canners in Valley Paying Record Prices for Apricots and Pears.

The wholesale fruit market today showed few signs of slight recovery from the depression of yesterday. Apricots were a shade firmer but the rest of the list was weak. Meldons if anything were under yesterdays level with the arrival of 10 cars from the Imperial and four more due before opening.

Peaches were offered in abundance, those from the up river regions being on a sort of auction basis. The Alameda county grown stuff was in more demand.

The cherry offerings were large and weak and the berry supply was so great that it was hard to make a quotation. Dozens of cases were left unsold and dealers were offering the fruit at almost any old figure to avoid "being stuck" over Sunday.

Notwithstanding the weak markets in the bay region canners are offering as high as $100 and sometimes $110 a ton for apricots in the valley, according to Eugene Austin of the Hunt Hatch Company.

"The shipments coming in to the bay mean that the grower is attempting a flyer to see if the returns will exceed the canner offers," said Austin. "The market will undoubtedly firm up on all canning stuff within a few days. Of course the peaches offered are useless to canners."

Canners, too, are offering high prices for pears. Independent canners up the valley are offering $75 a ton. The association men contracted on a $75 a ton basis. The truth of the matter is that the canners are hungry for good quality fruit that will pack well."

PETERSEN BACK ON JOB AS HEAD OF DETECTIVES

Reinstatement Follows Long Legal Fight; Salary War Continues.

Presented with many floral pieces from admirers, Walter J. Petersen, deposed captain of inspectors, returned this morning as head of the police detective bureau, from which he has been absent nearly two years, since Commissioner F. F. Morse dismissed him twice on various charges which the civil service board did not hold to be proven.

Petersen says he contemplated making no changes in the office details at the present time.

URGES HARMONY.

Upon his request, Petersen called together the whole inspectors' bureau early this afternoon and addressed them together with Comptroller Frank Colburn and Chief of Police James T. Drew, who also spoke, urging harmony in the department.

"My only thought is the efficiency of the department," said Petersen. "I do not come with a chip on my shoulder, neither do I carry a club. No man need fear me because of any personal feeling. I wish to consider the past a dead issue. I will only insist on honest, intelligent and diligent work. Orders must be carried out and discipline observed."

Colburn, in a short talk, agreed that discipline must be observed.

"The inspectors' bureau must work with the chief of police, who must be respected absolutely," said Colburn. "I am opposed to factions and I will resent any private organizations within the police department. We will not have any more of it."

OPPOSES BACK PAY.

Meantime City Attorney Leon E. Gray is preparing a legal battle against Petersen's application for the back pay she is let the city service. Petersen holds that if he was not legally dismissed, he should not legally be mulcted of the pay of his office; but in the meantime he has worked as an official of the Waterfront Employers' Association of San Francisco, at good pay.

The civil service board, in its ruling reinstating Petersen, allowed him the pay while he was without other employment, but specified that he should not receive pay from the city of Oakland while he was making $600 per month on the San Francisco waterfront.

Petersen appealed from the ruling.

LOSES IF HE WINS.

"The funny thing is that the Superior court cannot throw out part of the civil service board's opinion. It must either accept or turn down the whole thing," said City Attorney Gray. "Hence, if Petersen is able to have the Superior court reverse the civil service board's decision concerning his back pay, the court

Fifteen Minutes of Radio Daily

By Edward M. Davis

LESSON NO. 95 The Effects of Capacity

The fundamental wave-length of an antenna system is the wave-length at which the antenna circuit, when connected to earth, oscillates by virtue of the inductance and capacity contained in the antenna system itself without the insertion of any coils or condensers. If a coil of wire is connected in series with the antenna the wave-length will be increased by an amount dependent upon the size of the coil used, but a condenser is connected in series with the antenna the wave-length is reduced and the smaller the condenser used the shorter the resulting wave-length will be. In other words, as we approach a condition of infinite capacity in the series condenser by continually increasing the capacity, we approach the point where the wave-length would be the same as the simple grounded antenna with no series condenser. As we continually reduce the capacity of the condenser we finally reach a condition where the capacity of the condenser is zero and with which condition we merely have the wave-length of the ungrounded antenna. The wave-length secured by using a series condenser can never be less than half of the wave-length of the grounded antenna.

In order to get $4200 which he wants from the city while he was getting $500 per month from the waterfront employers, a matter of a year or two, Petersen's attorney is asking the city of Oakland to spend $3500 for a transcript of testimony at the various civil service board hearings.

"I wish that the Petersen case, with all its various angles and turns, could be settled quickly so we could find someone to help us," said Chevrolet Heights or Colombian Park, an ideal location for the modern working one-man or the artisan who wants his home. farads may be required. If it is two condensers of equal capacity are connected in series, the capacity of the combination will be equal to one-half the capacity of either condenser individually, but if the same condensers are connected in parallel the total capacity will be twice the capacity of a single condenser. ## MAIL CARRIERS ARE GATHERED IN ANNUAL REVIEW

Two Hundred Postal Service Employees Addressed on Responsibilities.

Two hundred mail carriers of Oakland, Emeryville, Piedmont and San Leandro were reviewed yesterday by Postmaster Joseph Rosborough, Assistant Superintendent of Mails S. P. Wagner, and Commissioner Albert E. Carter, at the Oakland postoffice.

After a detailed inspection of uniforms and equipment by Postmaster Rosborough and Wagner, the postmaster addressed them and paid them a hearty compliment upon their appearance. He emphasized the point that efficiency and service should be the keynote of the local postal service.

He said that while practically the majority of the personnel of the postoffice is giving absolute satisfaction and is a credit to the service, there are a few with whom he was not satisfied, but that he was already contemplating getting rid of those who were not desired.

COMMISSIONER SPEAKS.

Commissioner Carter was the main speaker and was introduced by the postmaster. The commissioner said:

You men, who are gathered here today at this annual review, are responsible to a large extent for the development of communities. You play an important part, and you cannot realize too strongly your duty. To the thousands of people in this community you carry messages of cheer and sometimes messages of sadness."

Carter told of the rapid development of Oakland in the past few years, and declared that, while the compensation they received in dollars and cents was not sufficient for their responsibilities and efforts, monetary compensation was not the main thing, and that knowledge of a duty well done and a service well performed was even a higher compensation, and that the men should work for this.

A condenser is the only device in electricity which actually stores electrical energy, and a charged condenser contains a definite amount of energy. A storage battery does not store up energy in electrical form since the electrical energy put into the battery is used to reverse the chemical process which goes on during discharge.

BOY SCOUT WORK AIDED.

HAYWARD, July 1.—The unitification of energy being devoted by various organizations here to the development of Boy Scout corps is expected to result from the work of a committee of the chamber of commerce headed by Russell T. Robinson, county agricultural agent. Robinson said today that the joining of the efforts of the various bodies interested in Scout work is necessarily slow, but that headway is now being made and that the stage of development commensurate with its opportunity unless Northern California people take advantage of the many superior points which we possess.

"If we of the north had been compelled to create our opportunity

CONCERT BY TRIO IS FIRST-CLASS, SAY RADIO FANS

Entertainment From KZM
Sunday by Jugo-Slav Caruso.

The program broadcast last night from KZM, The TRIBUNE'S radio broadcasting station, was another treat in the way of high-class entertainment for the radio audience. It was furnished by the Men-desson Trio, composed of Mrs. Claire Upshur, pianist and soprano soloist; Paul Elder, Jim Celloist, and Clinton Lewis, violinist.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Upshur and consisted of the following numbers by the trio: "Love Song," "Moment Musical," "Serenade" and the "Hungarian Dance." Mrs. Upshur sang "Paria Value," "Constancy" and "Ma Little Sunflower." There was also a violin solo, "Santa Ambrosio," and "Meditation" by Paul Elder Jr., cello.

When the radio fans like a program, the phone in the TRIBUNE'S broadcasting studio starts ringing. It rang last night many times.

KZM will be on the air again tonight between 6:45 and 7:00 with news, and again between 7:15 and 7:30.

The next entertainment program from THE TRIBUNE'S station will be tomorrow afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock, when KZM will broadcast on the time of KZY, Atlantic-Pacific Radio Supplies company. The program will be furnished by Vincent Kalterna, Jugo-Slav-Caruso of the San Francisco Community Opera company, accompanied by Mrs. William J. Cot, pianist of recognized ability.

as those in the south had to do, we might have been farther ahead. We had natural wealth and wonderful possibilities, but we took too much for granted."
